Germany's Counter Proposal On Reparations Arouses Ire of Premier Lloyd George

AGREED TO PAY $7,500,000,000

Unless Germans Have Something More to Offer Conference May Break Down

Lloyd George Replies to Statement of Head of German Delegation at London

Not a Sou Below Amount Fixed in Paris Agreement Will Be Accepted

LONDON, March 1.—Germany, through her delegates to the conference with the allies here, today made a reparations offer of approximately 30,000,000,000 gold marks, or about $7,500,000,000.

It was understood outside the conference that after Dr. Simons, the German foreign minister, had finished his statement on the reparations to the conference, Mr. Lloyd George, the British prime minister, replied in substance that unless the Germans had something more to offer than appeared in Dr. Simons' statement, there was no need of continuing the conference.

Mr. Lloyd George told the German foreign minister:

"If the written proposals are of the same general character as the explanation of them it isn't worth while for us to read them."

"You have a complete lack of com-

PROBE OF R. R. WRECK AT PORTER, CONTINUES

PORTER, Ind., March 1.—Investigations by Indiana state officials and officers of the Michigan Central and New York Central Railroads were continued today to determine the cause of the wreck here Sunday night, fatal to 35 passengers on the east-bound Michigan Central train.

Both Townsman Joseph Cook and Operator Charles Whitehead insisted that the New York Central train was given the right of way, and that the Michigan Central track signals were set to stop that train.

Engineer W. E. Long and Fireman George Block of the Michigan Central train in a statement given out by the railroad declared they saw the signal indicating they had a clear track.

Their statement added that the proof of the clear signal lay in the fact that the engine and one coach passed over the derail and continued on the rails.

New York Central officials declared, however, that the engine had been derailed and had jumped back on the rails when the front tracks struck the guard rails at the Diamond Crossing.

The coroner declared the death toll would not exceed 37 or 38, but information from relatives and friends showed half a dozen persons still unaccounted for.

Bodies of four women and one man remained unidentified.

STATION TO STATION CALL

The New England Telephone & Telegraph company has issued instructions for its patrons to use station-to-station toll calls. Station-to-station calls will be completed quicker and cost less than a call requiring connection with a particular person. A station-to-station call is a toll call for a number or for the listed name of a subscriber, and does not include a request for a particular person. "If you do not know the number wanted, tell the toll operator that you will talk with 'anyone' the company advises," and when the connection is made you may talk with anyone you wish. Collect or reversed charge calls are not accepted at the station-to-station rate. The company claims that savings of from 25 to 75 cents may be made on toll calls by use of the station-to-station call.

The famous Connecticut blue laws were called so because they were printed on blue paper.

Harding Considers Major General for Appointment as Governor-General

Two in Conference at Marion Today—Hardings To Be Given Farewell

MARION, Ohio, March 1.—Returning to Marion for a short visit before entering the White House, President-elect Harding went into conference today with Major General Leonard Wood who is prominently under consideration for appointment as governor-general of the Philippine islands.

Although no formal offer has been made, it is believed by those close to Mr. Harding that his former chief opponent for the presidential nomination can have the island governorship if he wants it and that the meeting of the two here today went a long way toward making the selection definite.

A formal announcement on the subject may be made shortly.

The president-elect and Mrs. Harding reached their home town from Florida early this morning after an absence of more than five weeks.

Besides General Wood, there were no callers to be received today but the Hardings were kept busy finally arranging their personal affairs and making farewell visits to their neighbors.

Tomorrow they will be tendered a formal farewell by the city and they will leave for Washington late in the afternoon.

CASES OF LOWELL GUNMEN CONTINUED

The cases of Alfred Porter, Emilio Tiberge, and Louis Tiberge, charged with the murder of David N. Tallin, Middlesex street storekeeper, were continued yesterday by Judge Cox in the superior court at Cambridge to May 7.

The announcement was made today by Attorney Tierney, counsel for Porter, who appeared yesterday before the superior court and requested the postponement. He stated that he had not advanced sufficiently with the preparation of his client's defense to proceed satisfactorily.

District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts, for the government, asked that the reason of the defense's desire be revealed, but Judge Cox ruled that it would not be necessary to make any disclosures.

$10,338,509 TO ELECT PRESIDENT

Campaign Costs in 1920 Estimated by Senate Investigating Committee

Republicans Spent $8,100,739 While Democrats Paid Out $2,237,770

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Campaign costs of electing a president of the United States in 1920 were $10,338,509, as estimated by a special senate committee created to investigate them, which today filed its report with congress.

Of this amount republican candidates and campaign organizations spent $8,100,739, while democratic expenditures were $2,237,770. The expenditures were $2,237,770. The expenditures were $2,237,770.

PROTEST BY ENGINEERS AGAINST WAGE CUT

It was the morning after the evening before at the meeting of the municipal council this morning. The commissioners all appeared well worn out by their arduous labors of the last two weeks in dealing with the city's finances.

All consideration of the budget was laid aside for the day, to be taken up probably tomorrow morning.

The most important feature of the morning's session was the receipt of a communication from the local union of steam and operating engineers against any reduction in the pay of steam engineers or others in the employ of the city.

A petition for the laying of block paving on Moody street was received from 20 residents of Moody street and vicinity.

The sum of $25 was awarded to Margaret Cusick as damages to clothing as a result of falling on an oil well.

The mayor announced that he had supposed that Police Officer Thomas F. Coleman, 27 years in service, had already been pensioned by the municipal council. For the sake of safety the first work was done a second time.

BABY BOY BORN IN WOODIES' HOME

There were smiles, smiles, smiles around the mayor's office in city hall this morning. Also there was a general handshaking-fest. It began when the mayor's private secretary, Arthur P. Woodley, appeared with an especially broad grin and a slightly sheepish expression on his countenance.

"It's a boy, born this morning," the private secretary announced, as he diffidently approached his chief. The mayor immediately had both hands in action shaking hands.

Then the news spread quickly over city hall. Calls began to arrive over the telephone wire leading to the mayor's office, "which is it, (wino or triple?) When the callers were informed that there was only one, the next question usually was, "What's his name?" and the response was "Richard."

FEDERAL GRAND JURY CALLS ON "DRY"

Resolution Directs Secretary to Produce Files Relating to Loans

Mandatory for Secretary to Appear Before Committee Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Secretary Houston is "directed" in a resolution adopted today by the senate judiciary committee, to produce complete treasury files of correspondence relating to foreign loans. Members of the committee said the resolution was practically a "quantity subpoena" in form.

The resolution was introduced by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, author of the bill to prohibit further loans to foreign governments, and was adopted in executive session. Committee members said it made it mandatory for the secretary to appear before the committee tomorrow with the full correspondence.

TRAINING DISABLED MEN

Rotarians Hear Officer of Federal Board for Vocational Training

Thomas J. Minton, placement officer of the federal board for vocational education, was the speaker at the noon day meeting of the Lowell Rotary club at the Boys' club in Dutton street today.

Mr. Minton, in an interesting way, outlined from the days when wounded men were killed or left to themselves, what different nations have done for those who served their country in time of war, down to the present undertaking by Uncle Sam, which he termed one of the greatest problems this country has ever attempted.

He explained that the object of the federal board was to train disabled men for useful work.

LOWELL BOY HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Pleading guilty to breaking and entering, with larceny of property valued at more than two hundred dollars, 10-year-old Leo Ouellette was today ordered held for the superior court in bonds of $200.

The defendant, who is very young in appearance as well as age, has four counts lodged against him. The first charges him with breaking and entering the property of Samuel Kopelman, the defendant will come before the superior court on March 7.

MAN AND WOMAN HELD IN $1000 BONDS

Theodore Garviel and Mrs. Bessie Siconopolous, charged with intent to murder on Theodore Siconopolous, were held in bonds of $1000 by Judge Enright in the police court, after a hearing which extended over a period of two days. Counsel for the defense in making a closing argument, feared Siconopolous, and charged him with ruining the life of Mrs. Siconopolous and her husband.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Sixty-three ex-servicemen, claiming the right to vocational education at the expense of the government because of vocational disabilities received in war service, were served yesterday by the federal vocational education representatives at the Legion club in Dutton street. D. H. Hawley, executive officer of the campaign being carried on here, claims this to be the largest registration his party has ever handled within so short a time.

Out of the 63 cases there were a few that cannot be classified because of their doubtful nature. Such cases will be taken before the federal board standing committee before they are rated or training may be granted.

ABDUCTION CHARGE

The case of Louis Laflamme, 29, and Fred Richard, 19, was today continued in the police court for one month, at the request of the government. Mary Flynn, the 19-year-old girl with whose abduction the youths are charged, could not be able to appear to testify until that time, it was stated. The Flynn girl, sustained a fractured skull when she fell or leaped from an automobile in which the defendants, together with Emma Gartin, 15, were riding. The government stated that the Flynn girl, while out of danger, is still in a condition so weakened that any appearance in court for the present is out of the question. Attorney Tierney asked that the present bail be reduced to a lower figure than $10,000 for each defendant. He argued that the obligation on account of which bonds were placed at this amount had passed. Judge Enright, however, declared that it was not only the life or death of the girl which was to be considered but also the nature of the alleged offense. "This is one of the most outrageous cases which has come before this court," he stated, in declining to fix bonds at any lower sum. Emma Gartin, who told the police a story of the midnight ride which was afterwards corroborated largely by the Flynn girl, appeared in court today on charges of improper conduct. She was ordered held in $500 bonds for the juvenile court session Friday morning. Richard and Laflamme have remained at the jail in Cambridge since their arrest February 20, in default of bail.

U.S. TROOPS RUSH TO SAVE PORRAS

Reach Mansion in Time to Save Life of President of Panama

Mob Attempted to Enter Palace—One Shot to Death, Four Others Wounded

PANAMA, March 1.—(By Associated Press)—One person was dead and four others were suffering from wounds when the presidential guard fired upon a mob which broke into the executive mansion here yesterday. One of the injured was Domingos Turner, who was the chief organizer of the demonstration here when General Pershing visited the Canal Zone last year.

American troops arrived at the mansion just in time to save the life of President Porras. He was conferring with William Jennings Price, United States minister to Panama, and Col. Jay J. Morrow, acting governor of the Canal Zone, when a crowd which had gathered in front of the palace became threatening. A request was at once sent to the commandant of the United States troops in the Canal Zone that soldiers be sent to the palace. Before they had arrived, however, a portion of the crowd had broken in on one of the doors and had been fired upon.

Quiet had been restored last night. The president Porras was quoted as having declared himself favorable to a diplomatic settlement with Costa Rica after Panama had recovered territory Costa Rican forces seized last week. It is asserted the mob which broke into the palace intended to assassinate Senator Porras.

Reports of all governmental activities since Feb. 21, when Costa Rican forces entered Panama, were reported.

The specifications for the remodeling of the Merrimack house, at the corner of Merrimack and Dutton streets into a modern store building, have been completed and Architect Harry Prescott Graves has called for bids from the various local contractors. A few changes have been made in the original plans as published in The Sun a few weeks ago, to wit, that the spaces on the second and third floors, which were being reserved for floor for the owner and his son-in-law, will be converted into offices. It is asserted that the changes as proposed will cost between $75,000 and $100,000, the steel work alone, it is said, to cost over $25,000. Bids are being received every day and the architect expects to award the contract within a few days.

WOULD BANISH HAIR BRUSHES

Dr. White Points Out Other
Dangers in Care of Skin

Tells of Some Causes of Baldness, Corns and
Callouses

"Barbers, hairdressers and manicurists are virtually practicing medicine and they ought to be subject to examination, to test their fitness for their occupation as doctors are," said Dr. Charles J. White, dermatologist, who delivered a free public lecture at Harvard Medical School recently on "Care of the Skin."

Dr. White also said that certain poisonous primroses, which can be bought in florists' establishments, cause serious skin trouble to some people who have them in their living rooms. He urged that those purchasing that flower be sure to ascertain from the seller if what is offered is of the poisonous variety.

The speaker declared that hair brushes should be banished from the earth as breeders of bacteria, causing skin or scalp diseases. People who will use them, he added, should have the bristles as soft as can be used. Hard bristles irritate the scalp and are liable to cause disease.

Sterilizing Hairbrushes
"As a brush cannot be sterilized by boiling," he said, "it should be washed often with soap and warm water and kept as much as possible outdoors in the sunlight for sterilization, as sunlight has gone through glass has lost much of its sterilizing power."

"Horn or tortoise shell combs are bad, being an animal substance affording a breeding place for bacteria. Hard rubber and aluminum make the best combs, as they can be frequently washed and sterilized in the sun, and they are not attractive habitations for bacteria."

"Scalps, especially those of children, should be washed at least once a week, using a good toilet soap for a normal scalp or castile for a greasy scalp. Handrubs in children should be attended to by a doctor, as it tends to produce early baldness and cannot be cured in adults. Everybody should shampoo once a month."

Cutting Girls' Hair
"Girls should not have their hair cut after the age of 10. If they do they are unlikely to have long hair when grown up."

"Putting waves into women's hair, if permanent is very injurious, but if only temporary and effected by a warm iron applied for some time, instead of a hot iron for a short time, it may not be harmful. Singeing the hair to keep it from falling, by preserving the sun in it, is all nonsense, for hair is not hollow and contains no sap."

"Baldness in young people is sometimes caused by going hatless in the hot sun. The hat may be dispensed with if desired all the year save between June 1 and Sept. 15, when the sun is hot. Sarongs go bareheaded in the sun continually and do not get bald but they have much more grease in their scalps and hair than white people have."

Danger in Dyeing Hair
"Athletic persons who take frequent showers should protect the hair with a rubber cap, as too much water on the scalp will produce baldness. Dyeing the hair usually leads to injury to scalp or skin."

"Hats should always be worn in motoring to prevent excessive drying of the scalp, leading to baldness. Heavy velvet or fur hats should not be worn by women, but all hats, whether of men or women, should have means of ventilation. Men's hats should always be fitted, as pinching at any particular place is contributory to baldness."

"Not veils are useless in motoring. Only chiffon should be worn, and as they become very dirty rapidly they should be either be washed or replaced frequently for hygienic reasons."

"Powdering the face may do no damage if the skin is dry, but if the skin is greasy powder stops up the pores, retards the egress of the grease and may make trouble. Rouge does little harm. Certain creams or ointments are good to soften the skin and prevent wrinkling.

Corns and Callouses
"Changed hands or face should be washed in lukewarm water, with soap having an excess of grease, and tight gloves should be avoided."

"Blisters, corns and callouses on the feet would not exist if people would wear shoes large enough and properly fitted, would keep trees in them when not in use in order to produce the furrows across the top of the shoes, and would break new shoes in gradually by wearing them a few hours a day at first, instead of all day."

"Silk, cotton and woolen stockings, according to the weather, are satisfactory, but new woolen stockings should always be washed before wearing, as a kind of irritable rash has been found to be due to unwashed new woolen stockings."

"Garments worn next the skin, by those taking athletic exercise become very unhygienic and should be boiled at least once a week.

Superbulous Hair
"The hair of the hair on women's faces should be removed by the electric needle."

"Pulling it out is merely a temporary expedient and only aggravates the evil. If the electric needle treatment is found painful it is because of the operator's unskillfulness. In expert hands it gives no pain."

"Black heads should be removed by squeezing only when they come out easily. Otherwise great harm may be done. Hot blisters on the face, due to motoring or to being caught in the open air, should never be plucked, lest they develop into scars of the skin."

"In treating boils never strap down the gauze over them tightly. The lack of ventilation multiplies the bacteria and increases the number of boils."

THEY BOTH THINK IT'S SIMPLY WONDERFUL

Miss Pearson Says Her Mother and Herself Have Been Wonderfully Benefited by Taking Tanlac

"Mother and I have both tried Tanlac and we think it is just wonderful," declared Miss Esther Pearson of 1088 Bridge street, Lowell, recently. "I had indigestion so bad," she said, "that it didn't seem to make any difference how careful I was about eating. I was in distress afterwards. I would blot up dreadfully with gas and have awful pains in my stomach. My sleep was restless and broken and I was so badly run-down I felt weak and tired from morning till night. "Mother also had been in poor health for years and nothing seemed to do her any good. She suffered awfully from stomach trouble and was continually complaining of a disagreeable bloated feeling.

"We began taking Tanlac a short time ago and already it has helped us wonderfully. I feel splendid in every way and mother is in better health than she has enjoyed in a long time. The stomach trouble has left her almost entirely and she looks better and stronger. My appetite is just fine and nothing I eat hurts me and I sleep perfectly sound. Tanlac certainly is a grand medicine.

TELLS PEOPLE WHY THEY DON'T DO THINGS

"The Wills, the Won't, the Can'ts and the Don'ts" was the subject of an address delivered by Daniel M. Vaughan, professor of social service in Boston university, before the members of the Lowell Christian Endeavor union in the Pawtucket Congregational church last night.

The wills were designated by the speaker as those who always come to church, whatever the weather—those who are the backbone of the organizations. "Anonymity changes but the wills don't," said the speaker. "Many changes but the wills don't. Theology changes but the rocks don't. Theology changes but God doesn't."

Newspaper publicity has a great value in getting people out and also in holding those you already have. People like to read about the things of their church in the morning paper. Then, after the people get interested and attend the meetings, they are not so looked after and made to feel at home.

In the can't division Dr. Vaughan placed those who are sick, or disabled, or in jail. Something is owed to them and there are many ways to get at them. He told of one man who had attended church all his life, and when he was taken sick and could no longer be at the meetings, he was literally heart broken. So, Dr. Vaughan, who happened to be pastor of the church the man attended, rigged up a telephone system from the church right to the man's bed, so that he might hear and practically take part in all the church services.

The don'ts are those who just do not care anything about church and are not at all interested in church affairs. Church matters simply do not bother them. Many of these are reached by the great tabernacle campaigns, by tent meetings in the summer, by street meetings, and by old fashioned revival services.

The group of won'ts are certain intellectual and labor agitators. Some of them are called the church intellectuals, but these can be handled with the right kind of leaders. Labor may be brought into church if the church takes an interest in labor, such as it did when through the Interchurch World Movement it investigated the great steel strike; when it denounced the open shop movement; and when it criticized Attorney-General Palmer's treatment of the radicals. Things like these show that the church does have other than a selfish interest.

GIRLS' CLUB HAS BEEN RENAMED

Today, the Girls' Community Service club assumed its new name—Girls' City club and Lowell Community Service, Inc., relinquished all connections with the organization.

At a meeting of the club members last night the new name was adopted. A new constitution accepted and new officers elected. There were about 200 girls present and their interest and spirit gave ample proof that the activities of the club will go on, but under a different name. Membership is open to any girl over 17 years of age and the purposes of the club are to offer educational and recreational opportunities. To reduce expenses of the club part of the quarters on the fourth floor have been given up by the club, and also the gymnasium on the third floor.

The officers elected last night were: Alice Coyne, president; Sadie Melancon, vice president; Helen Ryan, treasurer; Ethel Dixon, secretary; Edna Carter, financial secretary; Miss Iwata, lawyer will continue as director of the club.

OFFICER MUST HAVE WARRANT IN RAID

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Evidence obtained by revenue agents in raids conducted throughout the country cannot be admitted in court proceedings unless the supreme court ruled yesterday in settling aside the conviction in South Carolina of Lawrence Ames.

Ames was convicted of removing distilled spirits on which the taxes had not been paid to a place other than a distillery warehouse and of concealing such spirits. In appealing to the higher courts, he alleged that the fourth and fifth amendments to the federal constitution had been violated when federal officers searched his home without a warrant.

HE DARKENED HIS GRAY HAIR

TELLS HOW HE DID IT

Mr. J. A. McRea, a well-known resident of California, who was called Daddy and Grandpa on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of Lay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1 ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost.

Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It does not rub off the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Adv.

Strikers Wreck Homes of Ship Workers

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Twelve homes of Cramps Shipyard employees in the northeastern section of the city were partially wrecked last night by striking shipyard workers and their sympathizers. No one was injured. Two men and a woman were arrested and held on charges of inciting to riot. More than 500 men, women and boys surged through the streets in the vicinity of the plant hurling bricks, milk bottles and other missiles through the windows of houses believed to be occupied by Cramp employees. Police dispersed the crowd. A strike has been in effect at the yard for about three months.

National Fish Day, March 9

BOSTON, March 1.—Stand by with hearty appetites to support National Fish Day on March 9, was the general order contained in what is regarded today as the farewell message of Secretary Daniels to the navy yard here. ## CONG. GILLET WILL BE SPEAKER AGAIN

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Speaker Frederick H. Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, the republican leader, also was named to succeed himself. The new house will elect a speaker, but as the choice of republicans, with a majority of over three to one, Speaker Gillett's nomination was equivalent to election.

Representative Towney of Iowa was chairman of the conference, which was attended by many members of the new house, who have arrived here for the inauguration.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Delinquent Husbands Arraigned Today—Liquor, Auto and Other Cases

Michelo Roberto appeared today in the police court on a continued non-support case, and the matter was again put over until April 1, to ascertain whether the defendant will continue to make good his agreement to pay his wife $100 monthly for her support and that of her seven children. The wife expressed a fear that he will depart and leave her penniless with her seven little ones. She also stated that her husband had not kept away from the house, as ordered by the court, but had hung around the neighborhood. Also he tried, she said, to make her sign a receipt for $100 while only obtaining $20. This she refused to do, she stated, and he finally gave her the sum ordered by the court. The defendant promised to keep away from his family and to pay the monthly stipend, although he stated he could not pay any more because he belongs to five organizations. He would "give up anything," he said, if asked to contribute more. His total weekly earnings amount to $33 per week.

House of Correction

Four months in the house of correction was the sentence imposed on John Bigos today in the police court, on charges of non-support of his wife and four minor children. The defendant was arrested by Lieut. Ryan and Officers Molony and Murphy, after the wife had told the police that she had received no money from her husband since Jan. 1. Mrs. Bigos told Judge Knight today that she has been beaten and mistreated by her family unaided, while at the same time she has been subjected to the abusive treatment of her husband. After his arrest, she said, he obtained bail, and returning to his home further abused her. Judge Knight stated that he would have him committed to jail, and arrange for $3 a week to be given his family by the court. Bigos, however, appealed the sentence, and $300 bond was fixed. He was warned by Judge Knight that if he returned to his residence and molested his wife while on bail, that he will be sent to jail at once.

Thomas A. Cronin, charged with fraudulently conveying a diamond ring in February, 1919, the ring being the property of Louis Laporte, and being sold under condition of lease, was held in $200 bonds for a hearing tomorrow morning. Officers Gairly and Sullivan made the arrest.

Agree to Marry

The cases of Rachel Lagrove and John Thomas, both charged with improper conduct, were continued to tomorrow, as the defendants agreed to get married. Thomas, who is only 19 years of age, was also charged with operating a machine without a license, without lights, and in a manner to endanger the safety of the public. Officer Kivlan testified to seeing him going along Moody street at a rate of at least thirty miles an hour, and with no lights visible. Officer O'Sullivan overtook the defendant on a motor cycle, and it was then found that he had no license. Officers Moore and Conroy testified to the improper conduct charge. It was stated by Officer Moore that the Lagrove girl came here from Belgium not long ago in company with her mother and sister, and that recently her father left. She, however, is said, refused to depart with them, remaining in the company of Thomas.

Other Offenders

Edgar C. Carr was fined $20 on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a license. The fine was larger than the customary assessment in view of the fact that Carr's license has been revoked.

William E. Catman got three months

HARDING'S DARK HORSE

Only one real surprise was sprung by President-elect Harding in making up his final cabinet slate. The dark horse is Edwin Denby of Detroit, Mich., slated for secretary of the navy. He is a lawyer, automobile manufacturer, standard-bearer, six-footer, 200-pounder and former congressman. Although 51, he entered the war as a private in the marines and came out a major.

In the house of correction on drunkenness charges, after it was testified that he has been arrested eight times since April for this offense. Officers Barry and Frechette made the arrest. John Sullivan, who pleaded not guilty to drunkenness, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10. He was allowed two weeks' grace, however, in which to pay. He admitted being arrested last May and again last December.

Frank J. Beaulieu, who was found by Officers Gairly and Sullivan engaged in argument with soldiers, was ordered to leave Lowell this morning in the police court. A bottle of "jake" was discovered on his person, which he claimed was for his personal use. He denied selling liquor to soldiers, although it was testified that he spent the evening in their company. He gave a two-month sentence, suspended for six months on condition that he leave the city. He gave Mother as his home.

Sylvester Burr, charged with illegal keeping of liquor, had his case continued to March 8, and bonds of $300 were fixed. The defendant, who is a Dracut resident, was arrested by Officer Gairly of that town after a seizure of a barrel of mash and a small quantity of moonshine was discovered. Civil restitution has been made in the case of Helen Wietzke, charged with larceny of several small articles at dances. The complaint was made by Deputy Hugh Downey, after girls had lost gloves and other articles. Helen Terrell and the other girls mentioned in the case did not sign the complaint, which was preferred through routine police channels.

THOMAS J. COWIE, Paymaster General Thomas J. Cowie, United States navy, is shortly to retire. He gathered fame through doing things folks said couldn't be done. Example—when he announced he would sell $100,000,000 worth of liberty bonds in the navy. He couldn't do it, and then ran his sales up to $107,000,000. "The hell I can't," is his byword.

Germans Greatly Depressed

When the Germans left the conference they appeared to be greatly depressed. Premiers Lloyd George and Briand were smiling as they came from the conference chamber.

The British prime minister opened the conference by saying the allied representatives had assembled to receive the German reply to the decision of the Paris conference. The German foreign minister was then given the floor.

Dr. Simons said the Germans had prepared two written propositions most carefully and after profound study of Germany's resources and possibilities.

Dr. Simons in effect, said Germany would pay fifty billion marks, subject to the various discounts and reductions and the sums already paid. A hasty examination by the French delegation of the written proposals of the Germans indicated that after the reduction Germany would pay about thirty billion marks.

Premier Briand said that the proposals were so drawn they amounted to an offer that if the allies would advance Germany money on favorable terms, then Germany would pay them. The Germans apparently figure that if the capital sum of about thirty billion marks were taken now, it would amount to about 220,000,000,000 marks in 42 years at 6 per cent. The difficulty, however, it is pointed out in allied quarters, is for Germany to obtain these thirty billion marks without the allies doing it largely for them, which the allies regard as wholly unacceptable.

Among the points in the proposals advanced by Dr. Simons were his insistence that the total capital sum of Germany's obligations be definitely fixed and his representation that Germany was expected to reach her maximum capacity to pay in 1925, when the Germans proposed another arrangement shall be entered into for payment of the remainder within 20 years.

Dr. Simons said the difficulties which rendered the acceptance of the

IRISH KILL 5 SOLDIERS, WOUND 11 OTHERS

DUBLIN, March 1.—At least five soldiers were killed and 11 wounded at 6:30 o'clock last evening, in Cork, when they were attacked by armed civilians, says a military communication issued last night. The soldiers are declared to have been unarmed and walking along the street when the attack was made.

Paris reparations proposals impossible were due to the fundamental controversy involving on the one side the raising of Germany's productive efforts to a maximum in order to enable to meet her obligations, and on the other, the prevention of German competition becoming a menace to other nations.

The Paris proposals, he continued, contemplated the payment of annuities of six billion marks gold, and all were agreed that the only manner in which this amount could be paid was by a surplus of exports. The German experts had declared, however, that in order to meet these annuities, the German exports would have to be four times as great as the annuities, and the forcing up of the German export trade to this figure, he said, would constitute a serious menace to the rest of the world.

Opening of Conference

LONDON, March 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Four German delegates, Dr. Walter Simons, foreign minister; Carl Bergmann, an expert on financial affairs; Herr von Simson, secretary of the German foreign office and Dr. Goepfert, head of the juridical section of the foreign office conferred with allied delegates on the reparations question today.

The French government was represented by three members of the cabinet in addition to Premier Briand. They were Louis Loucheur, minister of liberated regions; M. Barthou, minister of war, and M. Doumer, minister of finance. Philippe Berthelot, general secretary of the French foreign office, also attended, before entering the conference. M. Loucheur said:

"We are ready to receive and courteously examine any proposal the Germans make regarding the terms and conditions for the payment of reparations. It is not impossible that they have something better to suggest than the allied terms, in which case, if it were equivalent to the global reparations plan in the Paris agreement, the allies will no doubt accept them. But not one below the amount determined in Paris will be acceptable. The British, Italian and Japanese governments, as well as the French government, have decided that those terms formed the minimum amount for Germany and there can be no reduction."

Wage Cut Fails to Become Effective

LAWRENCE, March 1.—The 20 per cent wage cut which the Master Builders' association announced would go into effect today, did not materialize as the employers agreed that all of the building mechanics and laborers have agreements which do not expire until April 1. Previous to that time every employer will confer with his employees relative to the cut going into effect on that date.

WOMAN VS. WOMAN

Carl Wanderer's Doom Hinges Upon Their Wits

CHICAGO, March 1.—Carl Wanderer's penalty for the murder of the "ragged stranger" depends upon the wit and resourcefulness of two women attorneys.

Wanderer's trial, starting March 1, is the first in Illinois courts in which two women have engaged in legal battle for the life of a man.

Miss Bos C. Sullivan, newly-appointed assistant state's attorney, will endeavor to send Wanderer to the gallows.

Mrs. Irene Lefkoff, counsel for the defense, will try to save him from the death penalty.

Miss Sullivan has practiced law in Chicago five years. She has been the legal counsel in numerous cases for the Chicago Teachers Federation and for the board of education.

Mrs. Lefkoff is associated with her husband, Alphonse Lefkoff, in the practice of law. She has been president of the Woman's Association of Commerce of Chicago for a year.

Murder Frameup

The murder, which was committed June 21, 1920, is the most curious which has ever come to the attention of the Chicago police.

Wanderer confessed that he arranged with a "poor bum" to starve a fake hood-up of Wanderer and his wife in the entrance to the Wanderer apartment so that he, Wanderer, might kill his wife and attribute the murder to the fictitious robber.

He further confessed that after he had killed his wife he shot and killed the accomplice so that he would not " squeal."

Last October Wanderer was tried and found guilty of the murder of his wife and her unborn child.

The jury recommended mercy and Justice McDonald sentenced Wanderer to 25 years in the penitentiary. The jury's verdict aroused a storm of disapproval.

Again Indicted

After the trial Wanderer was re-indicted on the charge of murdering the "poor bum."

Wanderer and Miss Ruth Johnson were engaged to marry when the war broke out. Wanderer went overseas as a second lieutenant. He won the Croix de Guerre, the Distinguished Service medal and promotion to a first lieutenant.

He returned to Chicago, and married Miss Johnson, Oct. 1, 1915.

He quickly tired of his wife and planned to get her $1500 savings. He advised his wife to draw out the money so they could buy a house. This she did.

Pink Ragged Youth

On Monday Wanderer went down town and struck upon acquaintance with a ragged young man, whom he promised a job driving a truck if the youth would meet him that evening.

They met and went to the home of per battle.—Adv.

a cousin, Fred Wanderer, where Wanderer borrowed an automatic pistol. Then Wanderer told the indicted stranger that his job was to follow him and his wife from a moving picture theatre that evening to their home, where he was to "hold them up."

Wanderer ate a hearty dinner with the wife he was to kill two hours later. After the meal he suggested a movie, and while his wife was getting ready to go he slipped his own automatic into his pocket and loaded his cousin's gun.

They had seen only a portion of the picture when Wanderer said he was tired of the show and wanted to leave.

Hold-Up in Vestibule

They sauntered home. In the shadow of the vestibule of the Wanderer apartment, the stranger commanded them to hand over their money.

Wanderer opened fire with both pistols. The first shot hit the floor.

Two struck Mrs. Wanderer and she died instantly. Then he fired three bullets into the tramp.

Wanderer emptied four more bullets into the walls, then fell upon the ragged stranger and beat his skull against the tile flooring, to insure his death.

Lastly he placed his cousin's gun beside the dead man's body. It was this mistake which finally fixed the murder upon him.

For the identification of the pistol led to proof of his frameup and his conviction.

The city of Venice has been decorated with the French Croix de Guerre.

Well Played Game—Same Teams Play Here Tonight

HARTFORD, March 1.—In a game characterized by even playing by both teams, Hartford got the breaks and surmounted Lowell by a one-point margin here last night, 7 to 6. Both quintets turned in a high class brand of polo and the playing of the teams left the verdict in doubt until the final bell. POLO NOTES
Ted Lewis and his Hartford players will play Lowell at the Crescent rink tonight.

Lewis, who in the old days was a great favorite in this city, is still capable of driving them in with old-time speed and accuracy. When Ferdie Harkins came to Lowell, Lewis was made captain of the Hartford club and has the team traveling at a good clip.

"Money Boy" Evans, who formerly played center, is teaming up with Lewis on the rush line, and he is continuing to play a bang-up game. Don Harrold, Molly Morrison and Blondie Huchner complete the team.

Huchner, who set up a league record Saturday night when he left his cage and skated the entire length of the floor and caged a goal, will be watched closely for while such a thing only happens once in a lifetime, his recent success might lead him to attempt the performance again.

Relative to the communication printed in The Sun yesterday, urging that amateur polo games be played here, the manager of the local rink said: "Nothing would please me better than to have games played here before the league contests. I have tried every means I know of to encourage such games. I have even offered to equip and pay teams, but have been unable to get boys interested. If the writer of that letter knows any way in which such games can be secured, if he can form teams or if he knows anyone who can do so, he will confer a great favor upon me by letting me in on it. I certainly have done all in my power to bring about such a condition. I realize that new players must be developed for the present stars cannot go on forever. I also know that in Providence, New Bedford and Fall River amateur leagues are flourishing, and many fine prospects are playing in these cities, but I still cannot get them going here, and if anyone else can I urge him to present himself at the rink any night and I shall be glad to hear his plans."

CLINTON WINS OVER JIM SACCO
BOSTON, March 1.—Jimmy Sacco distinguished himself in a creditable manner in a 10-round fight with John Clinton at the Carlyle A.C. last night. Clinton won the decision, but there was no indication of his taking down the win until the beginning of the seventh round, when he started to forge to the front over the East Boston man. Sacco substituted for Jimmy Furell, the New England lightweight champion, who is ill with the grippe, and considering his handicap gave Clinton a very stiff argument.

Sacco fought as long as his condition permitted, but he fell off entering the seventh round and had a hard time weathering through the ninth and tenth rounds. He wasn't in distress, but appeared unable to follow the pace with Clinton, who worked with left hooks to the head and sharp right-handers to the body.

Champ Musher's Malamutes Ready for Dog Derby

WALTER GOJNE AND HIS LEAD DOG—YOOKON

(N.E.A. Special to The Sun)
THE PAS, MANITOBA, March 1.—Spartan of the husky breed for Alaska malamutes will take part in the dog derby of the roughly used northern Manitoba husky in the Hudson Bay Dog Derby set for today for the championship of the world.

The dog derby, now four years old, at first was restricted to certain breeds of dogs. Now it is open to all. The Alaska malamute, delicately carved and fed heretofore has dominated the derby with its wonderful speed.

This year the course is doubled. The race will be from The Pas to Flin Flon and return—a distance of 200 miles.

Increased length in the race course gives the Northern Manitoba husky a chance to win.

This breed of dog is stronger and possesses more endurance than his malamute brother.

During the racing season he is fed on mush and eggs. After the derby he goes back to a meager diet of frozen jack-fish.

The husky is indispensable in the country where there are no railways or roads. He is the sole means of transportation.

Champion Mushers
Walter Gojne of St. Paul, who won the race in 1920, is with his champion team of malamutes. He is the only American entry.

Gojne covered the 100 mile course last year in 13 hours and 14 minutes. This classic may take between 50 and 60 hours due to the lengthened trail.

Besides Gojne other champion mushers here are Philip Tobacco, Buteco, Campbell, Joe St. Godard, Mosé Azure, Jack Hayes and Sam Pransau.

These are veteran mushers known for their powerful endurance and long inured to snow-shoe trails.

The mushers of the North swear by their dogs. They know of their feats of strength and stamina. Fatigue in their dogs develops into a sort of blind worship.

"APPROBATION FROM SIR"
Hubert is Praise Indeed—Motor Vehicles Registrar Compliments Lowell

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, March 1.—Lowell is one of the cleanest cities in the state in the matter of automobile accidents, according to a statement made today by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles.

Recently Mr. Goodwin has made a special investigation in the matter of accidents occurring in the seven largest cities during the months of December, January, and Lowell leads the list, both as to actual number of accidents and in proportion both to population and number of motor vehicles owned.

During the two months referred to there was not a single fatal accident in Lowell, and only 27 persons were injured in automobile accidents.

Spread over the other hand, with a population of only a few thousand greater than Lowell, and with no appreciably greater amount of vehicular traffic, reported five fatal accidents and 33 persons injured.

Cambridge, which is adjudged the second worst city, has a population practically the equal of Lowell's. Yet it reported four persons killed and 61 persons injured.

Boston's record showed 10 killed and 204 injured, but Boston has a permanent population of 749,000, a transient population of probably as many more, and a tremendous amount of through automobile traffic.

Of the other cities, Worcester, with a population of 179,000, reported one fatal accident and 73 injured; New Bedford, one fatal and 50 injured; and Fall River, none killed and 48 injured.

Asked if he had any theory as to the cause of the seemingly wide variation in figures, Mr. Goodwin replied:

"Speed—too much speed. That tells the story. Go out to Cambridge any day and you can see automobiles going through there at a speed considerably in excess of what should be permitted in so populous a city. I haven't had very frequent opportunities to visit Springfield, but from occasional visits there and from the reports of our inspectors I feel quite safe in saying that speed is the cause of the excessive number of accidents there."

In the other cities, especially in Boston and Lowell, there is splendid police regulation of speed. Adequate regulations have been made by the city authorities, and they are enforced by the police.

"Of course it is quite likely that in any one of the accidents that have occurred in Cambridge or Springfield recently it may be possible to show that the car involved was not being operated at the time at a high rate of speed. But that isn't the point at all. If speed regulation is lax it indicates a degree of recklessness which manifests itself sometimes in acts other than overspeeding. In other words, the driver who is permitted to operate his car at too high a rate of speed eventually becomes careless and possibly reckless, and in time an accident occurs."

"The only safe method to pursue is to hold drivers down to a reasonable speed at all times. Only when that is done will we establish an accident prevention record of which we will be proud."

CLINTON WINS OVER JIM SACCO
BOSTON, March 1.—Jimmy Sacco distinguished himself in a creditable manner in a 10-round fight with John Clinton at the Carlyle A.C. last night. Clinton won the decision, but there was no indication of his taking down the win until the beginning of the seventh round, when he started to forge to the front over the East Boston man. Sacco substituted for Jimmy Furell, the New England lightweight champion, who is ill with the grippe, and considering his handicap gave Clinton a very stiff argument.

Sacco fought as long as his condition permitted, but he fell off entering the seventh round and had a hard time weathering through the ninth and tenth rounds. He wasn't in distress, but appeared unable to follow the pace with Clinton, who worked with left hooks to the head and sharp right-handers to the body.

Every day you use up a large amount of vital energy. But—do you pay it back? Remember your body can't continue to supply vital energy unless you give it the materials which produce vitality.

Thousands of men and women get weak, anaemic, nervous and run-down, because they use up their vital energy quicker than the body can create it. In other words, they fail to pay the body for the vital energy they use. Do you?

If you tire quickly—If your nerves are shaky—
If your blood is poor—If you are run-down or debilitated—your body is asking for payment.

That means your system is calling for those materials which it needs to enable it to create vital energy and nerve force. And so surely as you restore to the body what it lacks when you are weak, anemic, nervous or run-down so surely will you regain vital power—rich red blood—steady nerves, vitality and endurance.

How to restore your vital energy—enrich your blood—strengthen your nerves and promote vigor and vitality

In almost every case of weakness, anaemia, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is real shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are positively essential to the creation of vital power. These elements are, particularly, Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium, Phosphorus. All these elements are contained in Wincarnis, because Wincarnis is prepared especially for weak anaemic, nervous and run-down people. So that by taking Wincarnis when you are weak, nervous or run-down, you supply to the body the very mineral elements it needs and in this way, you pay the body for the work it does by supplying the materials necessary to enable the body to create vital energy—to make the blood rich and red—to strengthen the nerves—and to promote renewed vigor, vitality and endurance.

form, Wincarnis should be your choice if you desire new strength—new rich, red blood, new nerve force and new vitality. Over 10,000 physicians have recommended Wincarnis. Your druggist has your bottle of Wincarnis ready for you. Try just one bottle.

Feast on the Flavor

The Old Cape Cod Flavor of Gorton's Ready-to-Fry Cod Fish Cakes

IT'S the delicious, deep-sea flavor. The fresh-from-the-ocean flavor of tender, white cod, cured in salt and sunshine. And cooked with mealy, crumbling potatoes, as only Gloucester fisher-folks know how.

Then sealed in enamel-lined cans for you to open and merely roll out into cakes and fry. Unbelievable that such delicate fish-cake flavor could come out of a can!

Fry in very hot fat, to a golden-brown crust. Serve them sizzling with aroma from hot pan to hot plate quick - and feast on the flavor.

One can feeds three. The meat part of the meal for any meal - breakfast, lunch or dinner. But far less expensive than a meal of meat or eggs.

And easy to fry as bacon. Get a can from your grocer today and you'll have a case (24 cans) in your pantry tomorrow.

Feast on the flavor today. P. S. - Lenten suggestion: A case of Gorton's Ready-to-Fry Cod Fish Cakes in your larder will save you work and expense during Lent, and fill the Lenten palate with applause.

Gorton's Ready-to-Fry Cod Fish Cakes

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to make it, and you have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough - usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives you immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CLOSING MEETING OF Y. W. C. A. DRIVE

At last night's closing meeting of the Y.W.C.A. drive, total contributions of more than $13,000 were registered, while team members are confident that when the work is finished, the objective point of $17,000 will be passed. An interesting program, which included a mock meeting of the campaigners, was given under the direction of Miss Mildred Nelson, head of the "physical department" here. Those who took part in the skill test included: Miss Gladys Pendexter, in the role of Miss McNair, general secretary of the association; Miss Marion Leighton, as Miss Brady, president of the directors' board; Mrs. Cummer Talbot, as Miss Rosevelt, campaign director; Miss Anna Hubert, as Miss Bodley, business executive and long-leader of the campaign; Miss Gladys Pendexter, as Miss Leighton, publicity director; and Miss Lucille Washburn as president officer. At the conclusion of the program, the real business meeting took place, with Miss Leighton presiding. The reports of the various captains were heard, and one of the big donations of the evening was that of $400 from John A. Stevens, reported by the team of which Miss Leighton is captain. Mrs. Stevens, who was present at the gathering, acknowledged the enthusiastic applause which broke forth on her report of her success. The campaign executive committee reported a total of $13,000, and this brought the total to $12,800. A member of the board then pledged himself to bring in the remaining $200, which was needed for an even $13,000. The method adopted to secure the final $200 includes the bringing in of $10 by each worker prior to May 1. A total of 23,000 contributions in Lowell have been given during the drive.

Training Disabled Men

such a training is to return the disabled to salable civil employment, making them self-supporting and reducing the burden on the state. The speaker stated to be a new departure and a worthy cause, necessitating the cooperation of business and industrial leaders everywhere, both in training and placing the men permanently. If the movement is to be successful.

Mr. Minton's Address

"It is, indeed, an honor," said Mr. Minton, "to have been selected from the staff of the federal bureau of vocational education to address the Rotarians of Lowell on the work of the bureau which has been empowered by the act of Congress to take care of the disabled ex-service men of the world war. To bring this problem more forcibly to our minds let us consider for a moment the efforts made in the past to take care of the disabled and handicapped persons who were the natural result of every great conflict of arms in the history of humanity."

While the Orientals turned their backs upon the disabled, the Greeks and the Romans turned their backs upon the disabled and the Spartans hurled their disabled from the precipice. It was only in the nineteenth century that the disabled soldier became a recognized charge upon society and private means were used to cure for and aid the battle-scarred soldiers. Later, when Henry IV of France listened to appeals from his veterans for aid, he and his medical assistants began to realize that it was to provide for the care of helpless ex-warriors through governmental action. A home was established for these cripples, but it was abandoned as inadequate and, as we realize today, never could solve the problem of what to do with our disabled.

Various pension systems were devised to care for the partially disabled, but the disabled of different countries, but the idea of returning these injured ex-service men to suitable civil employment and thereby making them self-sustaining and self-respecting citizens is a new departure in our methods of caring for the injured ex-soldiers, sailors and marines.

The Smith-Sears act of Congress was recognized as the obligation assumed by our government in caring for the persons injured in its service during the great war. This act entrusted the federal board for vocational education, with the retraining of handicapped men so that their disabilities would no longer prevent them from carrying on in successful competition with the normal citizen. This problem is a very intricate one and involves many questions as it is possible to conceive in handling a purely personal and human proposition. But this fact is clear, that it is only by the united and loyal cooperation of every industrial establishment and organization that we will be able "to put the job across" and thereby redeem the obligation of the government to those disabled soldiers. Here is where you, gentlemen, can do your part by pledging your support to the government in its effort to redeem its obligation to these disabled men. Some of you, perhaps, can find places in your establishments where you could train one or more of these disabled in vocations compatible with their disabilities. The government will maintain such a training financially while the man is undergoing his course, so that you are not obliged in any way to pay him wages while he is learning his new vocation. Such co-operation is greatly desired for we find that "training on the job" is particularly adapted for a large number of our disabled ex-service men who find that institutional training is beyond their grasp.

The speaker cited several instances of wonderfully successful cases of rehabilitation already accomplished by the board, which was a recently organized and which must find its own way in an entirely new line of endeavor.

Senators Keayon, Iowa; Edge, New Jersey and Spencer, Missouri, republicans; and Pomeroy, Ohio, and Reed, Missouri, democrats, signed the report which was unanimous. While stating their conclusion that "the expenditure of these vast sums is a present and growing menace to the nation," they made no recommendations for congressional action except that elections committees of the next congress should consider the question. ## COMMENT ON CHARTER

Board of Public Service and Auditing Section Strongly Commended

Now that the charter commission has modified the charter draft so as to overcome the objection of those who said the mayor would have too much power, it is expected that the main cause of opposition has been overcome.

A prominent citizen, not a member of the charter commission, speaking of two original features of the charter said: "I regard the provision for a board of public service under expert direction a very important and essential feature. Everybody connected with city hall work knows that in the past when the appropriations were made for streets, the decision as to how the money should be expended, rested with the commissioner or, under the former charter, the superintendent of streets. It is well remembered that when the city council in the old days voted to pave a certain street, the superintendent got the appropriation and quite often spent it for purposes other than those prescribed by the city council. To prevent any such misuse of the city's money and to have street and sewer work done in accordance with a definite system, this provision for a public service board has been inserted in the new charter. I consider it one of the most important in the whole document. It is just what is needed, its aim being to have the money appropriated for streets and highways spent for the purpose and in the manner that will best serve the public needs, not to benefit private interests, not haphazard, but in accordance with a well planned system of street development.

"The other feature which I deem original and necessary is the auditing board. At present the bills are audited or approved by those who contract them, each commissioner showing deference for the bills of his colleagues and expending similar treatment in return. The auditing commission would subject every item of expenditure to strict scrutiny. In this respect it would be a safeguard against extravagance and corruption.

"I hope both these features will be left unchanged as part of the charter to be submitted to the people."

Germany's Counter Proposal On Reparations Arouses Ire of Premier Lloyd George

AGREED TO PAY $7,500,000,000

Unless Germans Have Something More to Offer Conference May Break Down

Lloyd George Replies to Statement of Head of German Delegation at London

Not a Sou Below Amount Fixed in Paris Agreement Will Be Accepted

LONDON, March 1.—Germany, through her delegates to the conference with the allies here, today made a reparation offer of approximately $7,500,000,000 gold marks, or about $7,500,000,000.

It was understood outside the conference that after Dr. Simons, the German foreign minister, had finished his statement on the reparations to his conference, Mr. Lloyd George, the British prime minister, replied in substance that unless the Germans had something more to offer than appeared in Dr. Simons' statement, there was no need of continuing the conference.

Mr. Lloyd George told the German foreign minister:

"If the written proposals are of the same general character as the explanation of them, it isn't worth while for us to read them."

"You have a complete lack of confidence."

GERMANY SUBMITS LIST OF REPARATIONS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—Germany has submitted to the allied reparations commission a list of reparations and payments to the amount of 21,000,000,000 gold marks or approximately five and a quarter billion dollars, which she claims to have made up to last Jan. 2, according to advices received today in official circles.

The advices give the basis for the claim as made by Germany that she has complied with article 231 of the treaty of Versailles under which she obligated to pay before May 1, 1921, the equivalent of twenty billion gold marks "in order to enable the allied and associated powers to proceed at once to the restoration of their industrial and economic life."

The reparations commission, however, is understood to have valued the payments which Germany thus claims to have made in the form of merchant marine, railroad rolling stock, submarine cables, etc., at only one-tenth of the twenty billion figure.

The most material difference between the amounts which Germany asks to be allowed and that tentatively fixed by the allies concerns the former German merchant marine, which was entered on the reparations list by Germany at more than seven billion marks but which the allies value at about one-fourteenth this sum. Germany has sought to obtain the value of the merchant marine at the time of its delivery to the allies while the allies have allowed Germany only the value obtained for it when put up recently at public auction.

In the negotiations which have been proceeding between the German government and the allied reparations commission, it was disclosed today that Germany, instead of reducing the amounts entered by her, which conflicted with those of the allies in the list of reparations, chose to augment them in the hope of gaining a greater advantage in the anticipated compromise agreement.

Financial Proposals

LONDON, March 1.—The German financial proposals, it was learned, were made subject to two conditions:

First, that the plebiscite in Upper Silesia should result in favor of Germany.

Second, that Germany should have restored to her free commercial privileges throughout the world.

RAINEY AS TARIFF COMMISSIONER

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Representative Henry T. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, was nominated today by President Wilson to be a member of the tariff commission.

The famous Connecticut blue laws were called so because they were printed on blue paper.

Two in Conference at Marion Today—Hardings To Be Given Farewell

MARION, Ohio, March 1.—Returning to Marion for a short visit before entering the White House, President-elect Harding went into conference today with Major General Leonard Wood who is prominently under consideration for appointment as governor-general of the Philippine islands.

Although no formal offer has been made, it is believed by those close to Mr. Harding that his former chief opponent for the presidential nomination can have the island governorship if he wants it and that the meeting of the two here today went a long way toward making the selection definite. A formal announcement on the subject may be made shortly.

The president-elect and Mrs. Harding reached their home town from Florida early this morning after an absence of more than five weeks. Besides General Wood, there were no callers to be received today but the Hardings were kept busy finally arranging their personal affairs and making farewell visits to their neighbors. Tomorrow they will be tendered a formal farewell by the city and they will leave for Washington late in the afternoon.

The cases of Alfred Fortier, Emilio Theberge, and Lionel Theberge, charged with the murder of David N. Talbot, Millis street streetkeeper, were continued yesterday by Judge Cox in the superior court at Cambridge to May 1. The announcement was made today by Attorney Tierney, counsel for Fortier, who appeared yesterday before the superior court and requested the postponement. He stated that he had not advanced sufficiently with the preparation of his client's defense to proceed satisfactorily. District Attorney Nathan A. Tupper, for the government, asked that the reason of the defense's desire be revealed, but Judge Cox ruled that it would not be necessary to make any disclosures.

MAN AND WOMAN HELD IN $1000 BONDS

Theodore Gavriel and Mrs. Bessie Siegmund, charged with assault with intent to murder Theodore Siegmund, were held in bonds of $1000 by Judge Bright in the police court, after a hearing which extended over a period of two days. Counsel for the defense, in making a closing argument, charged Siegmund with the murder of his wife and her husband.

$10,338,509 TO ELECT PRESIDENT

Campaign Costs in 1920 Estimated by Senate Investigating Committee

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Campaign costs of electing a president of the United States in 1920 were $10,338,509, as estimated by a special senate committee created to investigate them, which today filed its report with congress. Of this amount republican candidates and campaign organizations spent $8,100,739, while democratic expenditures were $2,237,770. The committee was organized last year.

Rotarians Hear Officer of Federal Board for Vocational Training

Thomas J. Minton, placement officer of the federal board for vocational education, was the speaker at the noon day meeting of the Lowell Rotary club today at the Boys' club in Dutton street today.

Mr. Minton, in an interesting way, outlined from the days when wounded men were killed or left to themselves, what different nations have done for those who served their country in time of war, down to the present undertaking by Uncle Sam, which he termed one of the greatest problems this country has ever attempted.

He explained that the object of the federal board was to help these men.

PROTEST BY ENGINEERS AGAINST WAGE CUT

It was the morning after the evening before at the meeting of the municipal council this morning. The commissioners all appeared well worn out by weeks in dealing with the city's finances. All consideration of the budget was laid aside for the day, to be taken up probably tomorrow morning.

The most important feature of the morning's session was the receipt of a communication from the local union of steam and operating engineers against any reduction in the pay of steam engineers and others in the employ of the city.

A petition for the laying of block paving on Moody street was received from 20 residents of Moody street and vicinity.

The sum of $25 was awarded to Margaret Cusick as damages to clothing as a result of falling on an oil wet way.

The mayor announced that he had supposed that Police Officer Thomas F. Coleman, 27 years in service, had already been pensioned by the municipal council. For the sake of safety first the work was done a second time.

INVITES U.S. TO BE REPRESENTED

Council in Reply to U. S. Notes on Mandates Upholds Decision on Yap

Whole Question Might Be Reopened if U. S. Sends Plenipotentiary to Meeting

PARIS, March 1.—(By Associated Press)—The Council of the League of Nations in its reply to the American notes on the mandates question invites the United States to send a representative to the next meeting of the council to be held in April it was learned today.

Concerning the island of Yap, the reply says the council was obliged to accept the decision of the supreme council. It indicates, however, that the whole question may be reopened if the Washington government sees fit to send a plenipotentiary to discuss the matter.

DEFENDED BY PRESIDENT

Wilson Replies to Charges of Profiteering Against Baruch and Ryan

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President Wilson came today to the defense of B. M. Baruch and John D. Ryan, who have been charged by Representative Mason, republican, Illinois, with profiteering in copper while serving the government during the war.

In a letter to Representative Garrett, democrat, Tennessee, the president said the "charges and intimations" had been satisfactorily answered, but that "he thought a statement of the facts from him as to the fixing of the prices of copper during the war might clarify the situation."

The president denied that either Mr. Baruch or Mr. Ryan had anything to do with the price fixing negotiations, for which he said Judge Robert S. Lovett, priorities commissioner for the government during the war, was responsible in the initial stages.

"As a matter of fact," the president's letter said, "Mr. Bernard M. Baruch and John D. Ryan, whose names have been linked with irresponsible gossip in connection with the fixing of the price of copper, had nothing whatever to do with the price fixing negotiations, which finally resulted in the statement I made fixing the price, either at the time the price was fixed or subsequent thereto."

Judge Lovett acted as chairman of the committee which considered the first price fixing of copper and, after due consideration, recommended to the president, in September, 1917, that he had fixed the price at 23 1/2 cents per pound on condition that the wages of the employees of the copper producing companies should not be reduced below the then prevailing price which was based on 27 cent copper.

A year later a readjustment of the price was made necessary by an increase in the railroad rates and costs of supplies, and after negotiations which extended over many months, a further increase was recommended by Mr. Robert Brookings, chairman of the war industries board. Neither Mr. Baruch nor Mr. Ryan had any part in these negotiations which resulted in the fixing of the price announced by me."

The New England Telephone & Telegraph company has issued instructions for its patrons to use station-to-station toll calls. Station-to-station calls are complicated quicker and cost less than a call requiring connection with a particular person. A station-to-station call is a toll call for a number or for the listed name of a subscriber, and does not include a request for a particular person. "If you do not know the number wanted, tell the toll operator that you will talk with 'anyone' the company advises," and when the connection is made you may talk with anyone you wish. Collect or reversed charge calls are not accepted at the station-to-station rate. The company claims that savings of from 25 to 75 cents may be made on toll calls by use of the station-to-station call.

Resolution Directs Secretary to Produce Files Relating to Loans

Mandatory for Secretary to Appear Before Committee Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Secretary Houston is "directed" in a resolution adopted today by the senate judiciary committee, to produce complete treasury files of correspondence relating to foreign loans. Members of the committee said the resolution was practically a "quantity subpoena" in form.

The resolution was introduced by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, author of the bill to prohibit further loans to foreign governments, and was adopted in executive session. Committee members said it made it mandatory for the secretary to appear before the committee tomorrow with the full correspondence.

ABDUCTION CHARGE

The case of Louis Laflamme, 20, and Fred Richard, 15, was today continued in the police court for one month, at the request of the government. Mary Flynn, the 19-year-old girl with whom abduction the youths are charged, would not be able to appear to testify until that time, it was stated. The Flynn girl sustained a fractured skull when she fell or leaped from an automobile in which the defendants, together with Emma Garlin, 15, were riding. The government stated that the Flynn girl, while out of danger, is still in a condition so weakened that any appearance in court for the present is out of the question. Attorney Tierney asked that the present bail be reduced to a lower figure than $10,000 for each defendant. He argued that the expense on account of which bonds were placed at this amount had passed. Judge Barrett, however, declared that it was not only the life or death of the girl which was to be considered but also the nature of the alleged offense. "This is one of the most outrageous cases which has come before this court," he stated, in declining to fix bonds at any lower sum. Emma Garlin, who told the police a story of the midnight ride which was afterwards corroborated largely by the Flynn girl, appeared in court today on charges of improper conduct. She was ordered held in $500 bonds for the juvenile court session Friday morning. Richard and Laflamme have remained at the jail in Cambridge since their arrest February 29, in default of bail.

PROBE OF R. R. WRECK AT PORTER, CONTINUES

PORTER, Ind., March 1.—Investigations by Indiana state officials and officers of the Michigan Central and New York Central Railroads were continued today to determine the cause of the wreck here Sunday night, fatal to 35 passengers on the east-bound Michigan Central train.

Both Towerman Joseph Cook and Operator Charles Whitehead insisted that the New York Central train was given the right of way, and that the Michigan Central track signals were set to stop that train.

Engineer W. E. Long and Fireman George Block of the Michigan Central train in a statement given out by the railroad declared they saw the signal indicating they had a clear track. Their statement added that the proof of the clear signal lay in the fact that the engine and one coach passed over the dead end and continued on the rails. New York Central officials declared, however, that the engine had been derailed and had jumped back on the main line when the front tracks struck the guard rails at the Diamond Crossing.

The coroner declared the death toll would not exceed 37 or 38, but information from relatives and friends showed at least a dozen persons still unaccounted for.

Bodies of four women and one man remained unidentified.

COMPLETE DEATH LIST 37

PORTER, Ind., March 1.—Identification of four bodies today completed the list of 37 dead from the collision here Sunday between Michigan Central and New York Central railroad trains. Railroad officials said they were certain this number completed the death toll.

WOULD BANISH HAIR BRUSHES

Dr. White Points Out Other
Dangers in Care of
Skin

Tells of Some Causes of Baldness, Corns and
Callouses

"Barbers, hairdressers and manicurists are virtually practicing medicine and they ought to be subject to examination, to test their fitness for their occupation as doctors are," said Dr. Charles J. White, dermatologist, who delivered a free public lecture at Harvard Medical school recently on "Care of the Skin."

Dr. White also said that certain poisonous primroses which can be bought in florists' establishments, cause serious skin trouble to some people who have them in their living rooms. He urged that those purchasing that flower be sure to ascertain from the seller if what is offered is of the poisonous variety.

The speaker declared that hair brushes should be banished from the bath as breeders of bacteria, causing skin or scalp diseases. People who will use them, he added, should have the brushes as soft as can be used. Hard bristles irritate the scalp and are liable to cause disease.

Sterilizing Brushes

"As a brush cannot be sterilized by boiling," he said, "it should be washed often with soap and warm water and kept as much as possible outdoors in the sunlight for sterilization, as sunlight that has gone through glass has lost much of its sterilizing power."

Horn or tortoise shell combs are bad, being an animal substance affording a breeding place for bacteria. Hard rubber and aluminum make the best combs, as they can be frequently washed and sterilized in the sun, and they are not attractive habitations for bacteria.

Scalps, especially those of children, should be washed at least once a week, using a good toilet soap for a normal scalp or castile for a greasy scalp. Dandruff in children should be attended to by a doctor, as it tends to produce early baldness and cannot be cured in adults. Everybody should shampoo once a month.

Cutting Girls' Hair

"Girls should not have their hair cut after the age of 10. If they do they are unlikely to have long hair when grown up."

"Putting waves into women's hair, if permanent is very injurious, but if only temporary and effected by a warm iron applied for some time, instead of a hot iron for a short time, it may not be harmful. Singeing the hair to keep it from falling, by preserving the sap in it, is all nonsense, for hair is not hollow and contains no sap."

Baldness in young people is sometimes caused by going hatless in the hot sun. The hat may be dispensed with if desired all the year save between June 1 and Sept. 15, when the sun is hot. Savages go bareheaded in the sun continually and do not get bald but they have much more grease in their scalps and hair than white people have.

Danger in Drying Hair

"Athletic persons who take frequent shower baths should protect the hair with a rubber cap, as too much water on the scalp will produce baldness. Drying the hair usually leads to injury to scalp or skin."

"Hairs should always be worn in motion to prevent excessive drying of the scalp, leading to baldness. Heavy velvet or fur hats should not be worn by women, and all hats, whether of men or women, should have means of ventilation. Men's hats should always be fitted, as pinching at any particular place is contributory to baldness."

"Not vetts are useless in motoring. Only chifon should be worn, and as they become very dirty rapidly they should either be washed or replaced frequently for hygienic reasons."

"Tendering the face may do no damage if the skin is dry, but if the skin is greasy powder stops up the pores, retards the egress of the grease and may make trouble. Rouge does little harm. Certain creams or ointments

37 P. C. DROP IN UNEMPLOYMENT IN 1920

BOSTON, March 1.—The first publication of the Industrial Employment Service Bulletin, which has just been issued by the Employment Service of the United States department of labor, shows that in January, 1921, in 48 states and the District of Columbia, there were 3,473,416 less workers employed in industry than in January 1920, a reduction of 36.4 per cent.

The bulletin, which is issued under the direction of J. B. Denington, director general of the employment service, contains data gathered by district directors of the service relative to the unemployment situation. Later bulletins will cover other phases of the employment situation.

The packing and food products industries showed the highest percentage of employment in January, 1921, in comparison with January, 1920, having a rating of 81 per cent, while clay, glass, cement and stone products was second with 80.7 per cent employed. The group which covers metals and products, machinery, electric goods and foundry products showed a percentage of 69.5 per cent; lumber, house furniture, boxes and wood products 67.8 per cent; leather, its products, boots and shoes, 67.1 per cent; textiles and products, clothing, hosiery and underwear, 64.9; building trades, 47.6 per cent, and automobiles and accessories, 30.8 per cent. The total per cent, for the eight groups is placed at 67.5 per cent.

In the nine districts throughout the country it is estimated that there were 9,102,000 employed in the eight industries indicated in January, 1921, and in January, 1920, 6,709,515.

Wyoming had the best percentage of employment with a rating of 136.1 per cent. The lowest figure was that of Michigan, only 18.7 per cent, of the workers in the industries being indicated as employed.

In the New England district, Massachusetts had 234,274 persons employed in January, 1921, in the eight industrial groups, as compared with 414,401 in January, 1920, showing an employment percentage of 56.7 per cent. Connecticut showed a percentage of 56.7 with 141,295 employed in January, 1921, and 251,106 in January, 1920. Vermont had 39,857 employed in January, 1921, and 29,577 in January, 1920, a percentage of 52.3. New Hampshire led the New England states with 52.3 per cent, Rhode Island had 52.9 per cent, employed, and Maine 56.1 per cent.

Massachusetts' best percentage of employment is in the metals and products, machinery, electric goods and foundry products, there being 75 per cent, of the normal force working, taking January, 1921, as 100 per cent. The group which includes lumber, house furniture, boxes and products,

THEY BOTH THINK IT'S SIMPLY WONDERFUL

Miss Pearson Says Her Mother and Herself Have Been Wonderfully Benefited by Taking Tanlac

"Mother and I have both tried Tanlac and we think it is just wonderful," declared Miss Esther Pearson of 1088 Bridge street, Lowell, recently. "I had indigestion so bad," she said, "that it didn't seem to make any difference how careful I was about eating. I was in distress afterwards. I would float up dreadfully with gas and have awful pains in my stomach. My sleep was restless and broken and I was so badly run-down I had a percentage of employment of 70 per cent; textiles and products, clothing, hosiery and underwear, 69.5 per cent; building trades, 47.6; packing and food products, 60; automobiles and accessories, 57.1; clay, glass, cement and stone products, 49.2; and leather, its products, boots and shoes, 29.3.

Reports for 33 New England cities are given, with an estimated unemployment total of 250,156. Of this number nearly one-tenth are credited to Boston, with 23,000 persons unemployed. Manchester shows 21,000 unemployed. New Bedford reaches 30,000, Fall River 25,000 and Bridgeport 20,000.

AMERICANIZING FOREIGNERS
Americanization of foreigners employed in the textile industry was the subject of the fourth lecture of the year under the auspices of the Textile Christian association yesterday afternoon in the Textile school by Prof. David D. Vaughan of Boston university. Milton Washburn, president of the organization, presided at the meeting. Anarchy, socialism, single tax, organized labor, collective bargaining, and syndicalism were some of the topics discussed by the speaker. In explaining his lecture Prof. Vaughan gave some of his experiences in settling labor disputes as a mediator. One of the most important points he brought out was that no one should attempt to retard the legitimate aspirations of labor toward higher wages and better living conditions.

The largest quilt toothpick factory in the world is near Paris, where 30,000,000 quilts are produced annually. Importation of silencers for firearms into Australia has been prohibited.

felt weak and tired from morning till night.

"Mother also had been in poor health for years and nothing seemed to do her any good. She suffered awfully from stomach trouble and was continually complaining of a disagreeable bloated feeling. "We began taking Tanlac a short time ago and already it has helped us wonderfully. I feel splendid in every way and mother is in better health than she has enjoyed in a long time. The stomach trouble has left her almost entirely, and she looks better and stronger. My appetite is just fine and nothing I eat hurts me and I sleep perfectly sound. Tanlac certainly is a grand medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

TELLS PEOPLE WHY THEY DON'T DO THINGS

"The Wills, the Won't, the Can'ts and the Don'ts" was the subject of an address delivered by Daniel D. Vaughan, professor of social service in Boston university, before the members of the Lowell Christian Endeavor union in the Pavement Congregational church last night.

The wills were designated by the speaker as those who always come to church, whatever the weather—those who are the backbone of the organization. "Astrology changes but the stars don't," said the speaker. "Many changes but the flowers don't. Geology changes but the rocks don't. Theology changes but God doesn't."

Newspaper publicity has a great value in getting people out and also in holding those you already have. People like to read about the doings of their church in the morning paper. Then, after these people get interested and attend the meetings they must be looked after and made to feel at home.

In the early division Dr. Vaughan placed those who are sick, or disabled, or in jail. Something is owed to them and there are many ways to get at them. He told of one man who had attended church all his life, and when he was taken sick and could no longer be at the meetings he was literally heart broken. So, Dr. Vaughan, who happened to be pastor of the church the man attended, rigged up a telephone system from the church right to the man's bed, so that he might hear and practically take part in all that was going on.

The don'ts are those who just do not care anything about church. They are not at all interested in church affairs. Church matters simply do not bother them. Many of these are reached by the great tabernacle campaigns, by tent meetings in the summer, by street meetings, and by old fashioned revival services.

In the group of won'ts are certain intellectual and labor classes. Some so-called intellectuals call the church intellectually impossible, but these can be handled with the right kind of leaders. Labor may be brought into church if the church takes an interest in labor, such as it did when through the Interchurch World Movement it investigated the great steel strike; when it denounced the open shop movement; and when it criticized Attorney-General Palmer's treatment of the radicals. Things like these show that the church does have other than a selfish interest.

GIRLS' CLUB HAS BEEN RENAMED

Today, the Girls' Community Service club assumed its new name—Girls' City Club and Lowell Community Service, Inc., relinquishing all connections with the organization.

At a meeting of the club members last night the new name was adopted, a new constitution accepted and new officers elected. There were about 200 girls present and their interest and spirit gave ample proof that the activities of the club will go on, but under a different name. Membership is open to any girl over 17 years of age and the purposes of the club are to offer educational and recreational opportunities. To reduce expenses of the club part of the quarters on the fourth floor have been given up by the club, and also the gymnasium on the third floor.

The officers elected last night were: Alice Maynard, president; Sadie Melancon, vice president; Helen Ryan, treasurer; Ethel Dixon, secretary; Della Carty, financial secretary; Miss Lawita. Lawler will continue as director of the club.

OFFICER MUST HAVE WARRANT IN RAID

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Evidence obtained by police agents in raids conducted without a search warrant cannot be admitted in court proceedings, the supreme court ruled yesterday in setting aside the conviction in South Carolina of Lawrence Ames.

Ames was convicted of receiving distilled spirits on which the taxes had not been paid to a place other than a distillery warehouse and of concealing such spirits. In appealing to the higher courts, Ames alleged that the fourth and fifth amendments to the federal constitution had been violated when federal officers searched his home without a warrant.

HE DARKENED HIS GRAY HAIR

TELLS HOW HE DID IT

Mr. J. A. McCrear, a well-known resident of California, who was called today and Grampa on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Eucalyptus compound and 1 ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It does not rub the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Adv.

CONG. GILLET WILL BE SPEAKER AGAIN

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Speaker Frederick H. Gillett of the house of representatives, was re-elected by the republicans of the house, to serve as presiding officer during the congressional session, which will meet in extraordinary session, early in April. Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, the republican leader, also was named to succeed Gillett. The new house will elect a speaker, but as the choice of republicans will be a majority of over three to one, Speaker Gillett's nomination was equivalent to election.

Strikers Wreck Homes of Ship Workers

PHILADELPHIA, March 1.—Twelve homes of Cramps Shipyard employes in the northeastern section of the city were partially wrecked last night by striking shipyard workers and their sympathizers. No one was injured. Two men and a woman were arrested and held on charges of inciting to riot. More than 500 men, women and boys surged through the streets in the vicinity of the plant hurling bricks, milk bottles and other missiles through the windows of houses believed to be occupied by Cramp employes. Police dispersed the crowd. A strike has been in effect at the yard for about three months.

WILSON'S LEGACY TO HARDING

President Wilson, it seems, has raised an important international question in bringing up the distribution of mandates under the Versailles treaty. When that treaty was signed the mandates were to be given out as a sacred trust of civilization. It appears, however, that the colonies of Germany and the other central powers have been seized by the allied powers with as much voracity as any conqueror ever laid hold upon vanquished territory. England is waging war in Mesopotamia and in parts of Africa without any apparent regard for the dictates of civilization or the stipulations of the treaty. In his note to Great Britain in November, Secretary Colby said:

"Such powers as the allied and associated nations may enjoy or wield in the mandated areas secured as a result of the war. The United States, as a participant in that conflict, cannot consider any of the associated powers, the smallest not less than itself, as barred from discussion of any of its consequences or from participation in any of the rights and privileges secured under the mandates."

That was in reference to the island of Yap, but now the further discussion has turned upon the mandates of the German colonies in general. The position of the United States government in this connection was plainly and emphatically stated in the following, also by Secretary Colby to the allies:

"As one of the principal allied and associated powers, the United States has an equal concern and an inseparable interest with the other principal allied and associated powers in the overseas possessions of Germany, and has concededly an equal voice in their disposition, which it is respectfully submitted cannot be undertaken or effected without its consent."

That will bring the matter before the league of nations and will offer that body one of the most important questions which it has had to consider for some time. By some, it is asserted that President Wilson in raising this question before leaving office, has put in operation a movement that may result in having the United States enter the league. It is a well known fact that nothing would please him better and his attitude on this question will have to be recognized by the incoming administration. As it is not likely that President Harding would care to turn aside any such national responsibility, it is only right that the United States, which was a party to the treaty, should also be a party to the decisions under that treaty particularly affecting the destinies of the colonies and the policy of the "open door" as advocated by John Hay and President McKinley.

The Belgian Understanding

In addition to the proposition to have a voice in the assignment of mandates, comes the agreement made by President Wilson and recently revealed—that he should recommend to congress that Germany indemnity bonds be accepted in payment of our loans to Belgium. This is something of a shock to the people of this nation. It is in line with the Anglo-American treaty to come to the defense of France in case of future attack by Germany—agreed to by the president but worthless because not ratified by the senate. To accept such bonds from Belgium would bring the United States into the disagreeable task of helping the other powers to put the screws on Germany. Furthermore, the value of the bonds would depend upon the total amount which Germany could be forced to pay; and that value could not be determined until the whole transaction was closed, some forty or fifty years hence. Here lies another knotty problem to be decided by the new administration. While we should like to help Belgium, it would be better to cancel the debt outright than to have the United States linked with the combination of powers that will have to collect some fifty-five billion dollars from Germany, even if it appears as difficult as getting blood from a stone.

LEAGUE TO RESTORE TURKEY

Nothing more ominous or disastrous has yet been proposed by the dictators now heading the League of Nations than the revision of the Treaty of Sevres—that part of the peace treaty referring to the territory of Greece and Turkey—and reversing the grant of Turkish territory to Greece, turning them back to Turkey and restoring her power over Armenia and even in a measure over Constantinople, but not over the Bosphorus.

Armenia is to be committed to the tender mercies of the Turks and the Bolsheviks of Russia. This shows how much the ambitious powers at the head of the League of Nations care for the freedom of any subject nation, now that they themselves are safe and that they have secured the whip hand over the greater part of the world.

The treaty of Sevres was a virtual sentence of death to Turkish power but now Turkey is to be given back Thrace and Smyrna, which had been ceded to Greece, all because the league committee objects to the accession of Constantinople to the Greek throne. Greece will fight against the change, but with France and Italy favoring the change and England fearful lest the severe treatment of the Mohammedans might cause still further trouble among the Indian subjects in India, it is not anxious to ease up on Turkey. Furthermore, the Bolsheviks have now joined hands with the Turks under Kemal, the insurgent leader, and in this case a peril to her Indian possessions, England is ready to reverse her position.

reference to Turkey. The interests of Britain run counter to those of France and they are not in accord as to the changes to be made in the treaty; but in spite of the pressure of Greece, it seems that Turkey's sovereignty is to be recognized and peacefully all of her Asiatic possessions to the shores of the Bosphorus and perhaps further north. The result is sure to bring wars and plenty of them, no matter how it is settled—if any change be made in the treaty as already ratified.

In order to avoid the necessity of present military action, the league council is likely to create a situation that will be as pregnant of trouble as the Balkan states, which are seldom free from war of some kind.

THOU SHALT NOT STEAL

Poor foolish boy, William Dalton, the bank clerk who stole $722,000 in bonds from a Chicago bank, is now pondering over the stupidity of his deed and awaiting the punishment to be meted out to him by the courts. He now realizes what a fateful blunder he made in yielding to the temptation to which he was exposed in being left in a position in which he could get away with so much of the bank's property.

His youth is urged as an excuse for he was only sixteen, and he himself has mentioned something that Judge Landis said to the effect that if bank clerks were paid higher wages, they might be fewer of them tempted to steal. But there is no excuse for a crime of this kind. Dalton was paid $55 a month, a low wage to be sure; but it seems to be the custom with banks to keep apprentices for several years on low wages, increasing them gradually until in the end they are well paid.

It seems that the bank should not expose mere boys to the temptation of having custody of vast sums of money or securities. But of course, it is assumed that every employee of a bank is "armed so strong in honesty" as to be above any such weakness as would induce him to steal.

The vast bulk of them are entirely trustworthy; but occasionally one is found to lose his self-respect and to forget all considerations of honor, right and justice, and to run away with a bag of money belonging to his employers. The usual sequel is seen in the case of William Dalton, the second day after his arrest, sitting in a prison cell and with tears streaming down his cheeks talking of his mother. No doubt his mother tried to bring him up respectfully and to place him on the road to success when she found him a place in a great bank and furnished $3000 bonds as a guarantee of his honesty. Little he thought of his mother or her advice when he allowed himself to yield to the promptings of avarice and abscond with nearly a million dollars.

Thanks to the facilities for publicity and communication, Dalton was soon caught and now for the rest of his natural life he will carry the stigma of the thief, the convict, the jail bird, and thus by a single act of dishonesty, he has blasted his chance of rising to an honored station in life and of reflecting credit upon himself and his friends. Instead, he has plunged himself and his family into endless disgrace, simply by either forgetting or willfully ignoring that command of the decalogue, "Thou shalt not steal."

RAILROAD RATES

It seems that the railroads have reached an impasse on the question of wages. The war-time regulations, they claim, still in force as to overtime and other conditions, entail expenditures that they cannot meet. They have appealed to the interstate commerce commission for higher rates; but at a time when the cost of labor and materials is on the decline, why increase rates? Business has to carry a burden of taxation that is becoming intolerable and to increase rates again would make matters still worse. The relief should come in some other way. The railroad labor board should remove the gross injustice.

Everybody in this country will applaud Mr. Harding's act in making Col. Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy, the place his illustrious father held in his early political career. In this office the young Theodore will have an opportunity to lay the lines for future advancement.

Every democrat in the United States will regret the serious illness of Champ Clark, ex-speaker of the national house. He is one of the most thoroughgoing democrats in the country. But for the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson he might have been president.

Our nearest newspaper neighbor says that some of its customers failed to get copies of its publication to read the other morning because an electric car broke down. The editors of that day must have been too heavy for the one man cars.

The Minister's Fault

"I went to him discouraged and out of money and he told me I must learn to take things as I found them."—Judge.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

That keen rivalry and excitement goes with a track meet was evidenced by the large crowds which filled the local high school annex drill shed at track meets during the season just completed. There is, perhaps, no other sport which gives so much pleasure to the fair sex and for the six contests on the Lowell high school schedule, women and girls comprised a large part of the audience. At the exciting moments, when man is about to pass man, or victory in the high jump depends upon half an inch and a last trial, then one may see the young women jump to their feet and cheer at the top of their voices. Excitement at the track meets brings the spectators to their feet and brings forth yelling and whistling seldom heard at other sporting contests. Those who witnessed the relay race between Lowell and Brookline high schools know what such yelling means.

When a fire occurs in the heart of the city or in the Highlands district there is not enough water pressure, but when there is a blaze in the West Centralville section, there is too much. That seems to be the cry of the fire department. I remember a few months ago when fire threatened the destruction of the Central block, it was claimed at that time there was not enough water pressure for the stream to reach the fifth story of the building, and yesterday when I went to the Hildreth street fire I heard firemen say there was too much pressure. This statement was made to the commissioner of fire and water when he attempted to find out the cause of bursts in some of the lines. In an endeavor to get at the fire it was necessary for the men to lay lines of hose through West Centralville from a point near the corner of Allen avenue. After the blaze had been placed under control, it was found that two of the lines had burst and streams of water were sizzling through the air.

STRUGGLING TO SETTLE THE OIL QUESTION

BY C. H. NEWELL.

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—Settlement of the much-mooted Mexican oil question likely to be reached early this spring.

And with that question settled justly to foreign as well as domestic interests, the biggest obstacle between Mexico and recognition by foreign governments will be removed. Those close to President Obregon and American oil men on the inside in Mexico say there are few reasons left to prevent recognition of the Obregon government by President Harding.

Such recognition is of paramount importance to Obregon. Repeated efforts have been made before, as well as since the overthrow of Carranza to obtain a foreign loan. Failure on the part of Carranza to settle the oil question with fairness made it impossible for him to get a loan. The same was true of the De la Huerta interim government.

Oil Problem

The Carranza constitution of May, 1917, attempted to place all private property in Mexico, in so far as the subsoil oil rights were concerned, under control of the government.

The constitution said in effect that Mr. A. might file claim to the right to bore for oil on the land of Mr. B. even though Mr. B. had leased the same privileges to Mr. C. and even though Mr. B. objected very strenuously.

American and other oil companies naturally kicked, as did the Mexican landowner.

Furthermore, Carranza, by decree, attempted to make this provision retroactive, although the constitution itself held this illegal.

In view of past difficulties neither foreign interests nor Mexican landowners will now accept anything but performance on the issue. This the new government of Mexico knows. Already Obregon has denounced the Carranza decrees as illegal and one of his cabinet ministers has so ruled officially.

The Mexican congress expects to pass a new petroleum code. Obregon will urge that it be so far as agitation, both foreign and domestic will cease.

Affects Future

If congress meets the demands, both foreign and domestic parties to the controversy say that new oil development will surpass anything the world has seen.

If congress does not finish the good work Obregon has begun, oil development in Mexico will be slowed to an alarming extent.

Obregon is eager to get recognition from the Harding administration. From what is said by republican senators who have come here since Obregon's inauguration it is easy to infer that two prime factors govern the question of recognition.

First a knowledge in the states that recognition may be of first importance in helping Obregon keep peace. Second: a feeling that recognition should be based not on promises, but on practical and binding pledges that Mexico will perform her international obligations.

There is no discoverable distrust of President Obregon among foreigners in Mexico. Americans feel that he is thoroughly sincere in wanting to lead Mexico into a respected place among nations.

But they feel that long habit has made official Mexico so careless of its obligations or too intent to meet them that for the sake of Mexico, even more than for the sake of other nations, the most explicit and binding engagements should precede recognition.

Conditions Remain

Mexico could have had recognition at any time since Obregon took office had his government been able to bring itself to terms already laid down by President Wilson.

The kind of recognition Mexico would get at the hands of Harding would not be any different in principle or price.

Everyone who has dug into affairs here admits that full protection for foreign interests legally acquired and conducted, return of the railroads and express company to their rightful owners and just compensation for damages and practical plans for settlement of foreign debts are the prime conditions on which Mexico will be recognized by the United States, as well as Great Britain, France, Italy and other nations.

This is readily understood and concurred in by President Obregon and his cabinet.

COMMUNICATIONS

Editor Sun, Dear Sir: Please allow me to say a few words in reference to the discussion now attracting so much attention at city hall. After all the cutting and slashing, let us admit that there should be a cut in wages on account of the supposed reduction in the cost of living. Allow me to say that the public in general has not found the cost of living to have been reduced to the extent claimed by some of the speakers. When the high cost of living soared in wartime these same people were in any haste to increase wages, but now that the tide has turned they want to throw the burden entirely upon the working people instead of taking their share of it. Marjorie, as they should, I believe that your editorial of yesterday sounds the keynote of the situation in saying

Shackleton Plans New Expedition

CHRISTIANIA, March 1.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic

explorer, will leave in May or June on a new polar expedition to the Arctic. He will take a dozen men, chiefly those who accompanied him on former expeditions and he contemplates being away for about two years. The Norwegian whaling boat Foca I, has been purchased for the expedition and in all probability she will first proceed to Hudson's Bay, where 150 dogs will be taken on board. Thence the expedition will proceed by way of Baffin's Bay—which will be reached, it is hoped, by the end of July provided the ice conditions are favorable—through Lancaster sound, to Axel Heiberg's Land. From there Sir Ernest intends to explore the islands eastward to Parry island, this being the main object of the expedition.

After paying out about $379,000 in expenses and awards to those who filled the places of the striking police in the emergency, trustees of the fund for Defenders of Public Safety have decided to hold the balance in case of need in a similar crisis. ## Meat — then and now

THE meat peddler of the old days, who killed his own live stock and then sold the meat from the tail of a cart, is gone from our larger towns and cities. He was a pioneer and did good service but he couldn't keep up with his job. Crude methods had to give way to new ideas in sanitation and distribution.

Concentration of population drove the peddler and his wagon out and brought the modern packing industry and the neighborhood retailer in his place.

And the modern packing business means this: That near the farms and ranches, the centers of live stock production, are packing plants that assemble and manufacture the meat products you use.

Dealers in towns and villages are supplied directly and regularly from these refrigerator cars.

And in cities the refrigerator car is unloaded into branch houses, chilled and sanitary, from which deliveries are made to your meat shop. And all the time the meat is kept so chilled that deterioration is prevented.

Swift & Company's plants and branches are co-ordinated, interchanging supply and supporting each other, when necessary, so that no section of the country may ever lack its daily meat.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Delinquent Husbands Arraigned Today—Liquor, Auto and Other Cases

Michèle Roberto appeared today in the police court on a continued non-support case, and the matter was again put over until April 1, to ascertain whether the defendant will continue to make good his agreement to pay his wife $100 monthly for her support and that of her seven children. The wife expressed a fear that he will depart and leave her penniless with her seven little ones. She also stated that her husband had not kept away from the house, as ordered by the court, but had hung around the neighborhood. Also he tried, she said, to make her sign a receipt for $100 while only obtaining $50. This she refused to do, she stated, and he finally gave her the sum ordered by the court. The defendant promised to keep away from his family and to pay the monthly stipend, although he stated he could not pay any more because he "belongs to five organizations." He would "give up everything," he said, if asked to contribute more. His total weekly earnings amount to $35 per week.

House of Correction

Four months in the house of correction was the sentence imposed on John Bigos today in the police court, on charges of non-support of his wife and four minor children. The defendant was arrested by Lieut. Ryan and Officers Molony and Murphy, after the wife had told the police that she had received no money from her husband since Jan. 1. Mrs. Bigos told Judge Enright this morning that she has been working and supporting her family unaided, while at the same time she has been subjected to the abuse and treatment of her husband. After his arrest, she said, he obtained bail, and returning to his home further abused her. Judge Enright stated that he would have him committed to jail, and arrange for $3 a week to be given his family by the county. Bigos, however, appealed the sentence, and $500 bond was fixed. He was warned by Judge Enright that if he returned to his residence and molested his wife while on bail, that he will be sent to jail at once.

Thomas A. Cronin, charged with fraudulently conveying a diamond ring in February, 1919, the ring being the property of Louis Laporte, and being sold under condition of lease, was held in $200 bonds for a hearing tomorrow morning. Officers Garrity and Sullivan made the arrest.

Agree to Marry

The cases of Rachael Lagrove and John Thomas, charged with improper conduct, were continued to tomorrow, as the defendants agreed to get married. Thomas, who is only 19 years of age, was also charged with operating a machine without a license, without lights, and in a manner to endanger the safety of the public. Officer Kivlan testified to seeing him going along Moely street at a rate of at least thirty miles an hour, and with no lights visible. Officer O'Sullivan overtook the defendant on a motorcycle, and it was then found that he had no license. Officers Moore and Conney testified to the improper conduct charge. It was stated by Officer Moore that the Lagrove girl came here from Belgium not long ago in company with her mother and sister, and that recently the latter left. She, however, it is said, refused to depart with them remaining in the company of Thomas.

Other Offenders

Edgar C. Marr was fined $20 on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a license. The fine was larger than the customary assessment in view of the fact that Marr's license had been revoked.

William E. O'Brien got three months

HARDING'S DARK HORSE

Only one real surprise was springing from President-elect Harding in making up his final cabinet slate. The dark horse is Edwin Denby of Detroit, Mich., slated for secretary of the navy. He is a lawyer, automobile manufacturer, standpatter, six-footer, 200-pounder and former congressman. Although 51, he entered the war as a private in the marines and came out a major.

In the house of correction on drunkenness charges, after it was testified that he has been arrested eight times since April for this offense. Officers Barry and Frechette made the arrest. John Sullivan, who pleaded not guilty to drunkenness, was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $10. He was allowed two weeks' grace, however, in which to pay. He admitted being arrested last May and again last December.

Frank J. Beaulieu, who was found by Officers Garrity and Sullivan engaged in argument with soldiers, was ordered to leave Lowell this morning in the police court. A bottle of "mace" was discovered on his person, which he claimed was for his personal use. He denied selling liquor to soldiers, although it was testified that he spent the evening in their company. He was given a two months' sentence suspended for six months on condition that he leave the city. He gave Mechem as his home.

Sylvester Bue, charged with illegal keeping of liquor, had his case continued to March 8, and bonds of $500 were fixed. The defendant, who is a Dracut resident, was arrested by Officer Curran of that town after a still, a barrel of mash and a small quantity of moonshine was discovered. Civil restitution has been made in the case of Helen Willeczka, charged with larceny of several small articles at dances. The complaint was made by Deputy Hugh Downey, after girls had lost gloves and other apparel. Helen Terella and the other girls mentioned in the case did not sign the complaint, which was preferred through routine police channels.

LAST DAY FOR FILING STATE INCOME TAX

An average of 1000 state income tax statements per day have been filed within the last few days at the state tax office on the fourth floor in the San building. This is generally considered to be larger than for any previous year. Today was the last day for filing state tax statements and for those who have failed to do so a penalty of five dollars for each day the statement is overdue may be attached by the government. The final day for filing federal tax statements is March 15.

THOMAS J. COWIE, Paymaster General Thomas J. Cowie, United States navy, is shortly to retire. He gathered fame through doing things folks said couldn't be done. Example—when he announced he would sell $100,000,000 worth of Liberty bonds in the navy, was told he couldn't do it, and then ran his sales up to $100,000,000. "The hell I can't" is his byword.

Agreed to Pay $7,500,000

prehension of the position of the allies and of your own position. We will discuss among ourselves our reply and give it to you tomorrow at 11 o'clock." Germans Greatly Depressed

When the Germans left the conference they appeared to be greatly depressed. Premier Lloyd George and Hinde were smiling as they came from the conference chamber.

The British prime minister opened the conference by saying the allied representatives had assembled to receive the German reply to the decision of the Paris conference. The German foreign minister was then given the floor.

Dr. Simons said the Germans had prepared two written propositions most carefully and after profound study of Germany's resources and possibilities.

Dr. Simons in effect, said Germany would pay fifty billion marks, subject to the various discounts and reductions and the sums already paid. A hasty examination by the French delegation of the written proposals of the Germans indicated that after the reductions Germany would pay about thirty billion marks.

Premier Briand said that the proposals were so drawn they amounted to an offer that if the allies would advance Germany money on favorable terms, then Germany would pay them. The Germans apparently figure that if the capital sum of about thirty billion marks were taken now, it would amount to about 220,000,000,000 marks in 12 years at 5 per cent. The difficulty, however, it is pointed out in allied quarters, is for Germany to obtain these thirty billion marks without the allies doing it largely for them, which the allies regard as wholly unacceptable.

Among the points in the proposals advanced by Dr. Simons were his insistence that the total capital sum of Germany's obligations be definitely fixed and his representation that Germany was expected to reach her maximum capacity to pay in 1926, when the capital sum of about thirty billion marks would be entered into for payment of the remainder within 30 years.

Dr. Simons said the difficulties which rendered the acceptance of the

IRISH KILL 5 SOLDIERS, WOUND 11 OTHERS

DUBLIN, March 1.—At least five soldiers were killed and 11 wounded at 6.30 o'clock last evening in Cork, when they were attacked by armed civilians, says a military communication issued last night. The soldiers are declared to have been unarmed and walking along the street when the attack was made.

Paris reparations proposals impossible were due to the fundamental controversy involving on the one side the raising of Germany's productive efforts to a maximum in order to enable to meet her obligations, and on the other the prevention of German competition becoming a menace to other nations.

The Paris proposals, he continued, contemplated the payment of annuities of six billion marks gold and silver, which the only manner in which this amount could be paid was by a surplus of exports. The German experts had declared, however, that in order to meet these annuities, the German exports would have to be four times as great as the annuities, and the forcing up of the German export trade to this figure, he said, would constitute a serious menace to the rest of the world.

Opening of Conference

LONDON, March 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Four German delegates, Dr. Walter Simons, foreign minister, Carl Berckmann, an expert on financial affairs, Herr von Simson, secretary of the German foreign office and Dr. Goepfert, head of the judicial section of the foreign office conferred with allied delegates on the reparations question today.

The French government was represented by three members of the cabinet in addition to Premier Briand. They were Louis Loucheur, minister of liberated regions; M. Barthou, minister of war; and M. Doumer, minister of finance. Philipp Berthelot, general secretary of the French foreign office, also attended. Before entering the conference, Mr. Loucheur said:

"We are ready to receive and conscientiously examine any proposal the Germans make regarding the terms and conditions for the payment of reparations. It is not impossible that they have something better to suggest than the allied terms, in which case, if it were equivalent to the global reparations fixed in the Paris agreement, the allies will not doubt accept them. But not one son below the amount determined in Paris will be acceptable. The British, Italian and Japanese governments, as well as the French government, have decided that these terms formed the minimum amount for Germany and there can be no reduction."

LAWRENCE, March 1.—The 20 per cent wage cut which the Master Builders' association announced would go into effect today, did not materialize as the employers agreed that all of the building mechanics and laborers have agreements which do not expire until April 1. ## WOMAN VS. WOMAN

CHICAGO, March 1.—Carl Wanderer's penalty for the murder of the "ragged stranger" depends upon the wit and resourcefulness of two women attorneys. Wanderer's trial, starting March 1, is the first in Illinois courts in which two women have engaged in legal battle for the life of a man.

Miss Boss C. Sullivan, newly appointed assistant state attorney, will endeavor to send Wanderer to the gallows.

Mrs. Irene Lefkowitz, counsel for the defense, will try to save him from the death penalty.

Miss Sullivan has practiced law in Chicago five years. She has been the legal counsel in numerous cases for the Chicago Teachers Federation and for the board of education.

Mrs. Lefkowitz is associated with her husband, Alphonse Lefkowitz, in the practice of law. She has been president of the Woman's Association of Commerce of Chicago for a year.

Murder Framed
"The murder, which was committed June 21, 1920, is the most curious which has ever come to the attention of the Chicago police."

Wanderer confessed that he arranged with a "poor bum" to stage a fake hold-up of Wanderer and his wife in the entrance to the Wanderer apartment so that he, Wanderer, might kill the stranger and attribute the murder to the fictitious robber.

He further confessed that after he had killed his wife he shot and killed the accomplice so that he would not "equal."

Last October Wanderer was tried and found guilty of the murder of his wife and her unborn child.

The jury recommended mercy and Judge McDonald sentenced Wanderer to 25 years in the penitentiary. The jury's verdict aroused a storm of disapproval.

Again Indicted
After the trial Wanderer was indicted on the charge of murdering his "poor bum."

Wanderer and Miss Ruth Johnson were indicted to marry when the war broke out. Wanderer went overseas as a second lieutenant. He won the Croix de Guerre, the Distinguished Service Medal and promotion to a first lieutenant.

He returned to Chicago, and married Miss Johnson, Oct. 1, 1919.

His quick trial of his wife and planned to get her $1500 ransom. He advised his wife to draw out the money as they could buy a house. This she did.

Blind Hugged Youth
On Monday Wanderer went down town and struck up an acquaintance with a hatted young man, whom he presumed a job driving a truck of the youth would meet him that evening.

a cousin, Fred Wanderer, where Wanderer borrowed an automatic pistol. Then Wanderer told the tattered stranger that his job was to follow him and his wife from a moving picture theatre that evening to their home, where he was to "hold them up."

Wanderer ate a hearty dinner with the wife he was to kill two hours later. After the meal he suggested a movie, and while his wife was getting ready to go he slipped his own automatic into his pocket and loaded his cousin's gun.

They had seen only a portion of the picture when Wanderer said he was tired of the show and wanted to leave.

Hold-Up in Vestibule
They sauntered home. In the shadows of the vestibule of the Wanderer apartment, the stranger commanded them to hand over their money.

Wanderer opened fire with both pistols. The first shots hit the floor.

Two struck Mrs. Wanderer, and she died instantly. Then he fired three bullets into the trunk.

Wanderer emptied four more bullets into the walls, then fell onto the ragged stranger and beat his skull against the tile flooring, to insure his death.

Lastly he placed his cousin's gun beside the dead man's body. It was this mistake which finally fixed the murder upon him.

For the identification of the pistol led to proof of his frameup and his conviction.

A NIGHT WITH THE STARS

Lecture by B. R. Baumgardt
On "The Frontiers of the Universe"

Photographs taken through the lens of the largest telescope in the world, that located on Mt. Wilson, were flashed on the screen last evening at high school hall, when B. R. Baumgardt of Los Angeles, Cal., delivered an eloquent and engrossing address on "The Frontiers of the Universe" before an audience of Lowell men, women and children, who packed the auditorium to capacity. The event was the 15th lecture of the Moses Greeley Parker fund series.

"There are times," said the speaker, "when I feel proud to be a human being. Not always, but sometimes, when I see man overcoming some tremendous obstacle which nature has placed in his way." He went on, by way of introduction, to tell of the first telescope ever manufactured, that of Galileo, invented in 1610. This instrument, together with all the rest of the great Italian's other paraphernalia, can now be seen near Florence, where the public is invited to inspect them.

"The human eye," said Mr. Baumgardt, "is nothing but a natural telescope; the telescope is nothing but an artificial eye. Galileo, when he conceived his pioneer instrument, found the natural vision aided one hundredfold, as can be proved simply by mathematics. But the master telescope on Mt. Wilson brings objects ten thousand times nearer to us. We can see the moon's surface as though that satellite were no more than 24 miles away from us. That is one of the marvels I shall show you tonight.

"Astronomy is the science which can show us our actual position in the universe in which we have been awakened into consciousness. Who among you has not endeavored to read in the stars the secret of secrets—the creator of the universe? How absolute, how sublime, everything seems. When we contemplate the heavenly bodies, we can almost hear them whisper, we almost catch the rumbling away of our earth. We hear the very voice of the universe speaking to us. We hear the running of the sand in the mighty hourglass of time.

"Why have we been provoked into consciousness? Whence do we come? Whither do we go? What means the drama which not only is all about us, but of which we are a part? In astronomy lies the answer to these questions. There lies the scientific proof of immortality. Whether this be personal, I don't know, and you don't know. But I am willing for one to put my faith in the proposition that it is all for the best.

"Astronomy reveals to us our own absolute and unrepeatable insignificance. One of the shortest distances of which we shall treat tonight is the distance from our planet to the sun. This is 93,000,000 miles. It seems very great, but it is in reality very small, let us go to the sun. What then do we find our earth to be? A dust mote dancing in the beams of the sunlight. A period on the page of a book would seem large by comparison. If this be so, if the earth is so insignificant, what is the value of one of the eighteen thousand million humans who swarm here? I hope you now understand the own importance. Man projects his own shadow into the realms of space, and says that it is reality. Isn't there something greater than man can picture for himself in the universe? Is a my question here tonight to prove that there is. Are you seeking an anthropomorphic God, a God made in your own image, a God that you can describe and discuss? You won't find such a being. But if you are seeking a controlling power, I'll show you that there is one. Ignorance, arrogance, superstition. These are the three great stumbling blocks in the path of human kind. I'll add a fourth—intolerance. The corridors of Heliopolis space are the territory of astronomy, which leads us to the very threshold of infinity.

"Now that I have appealed to your scientific and religious senses, let me appeal to your aesthetic sense. Come with me to God's country—California. The lecturer now led his audience, by means of beautiful colored views, from the flower-clad feet of Mt. Wilson to the summit, where the great observatory lifts its dome. One of the pictures showed John D. Hooker, who gave the first $100,000 to the construction of the observatory, and with him John Muir, the great nature lover. "California in February," explained the lecturer, as he showed one slide, "died with flowers in bloom. Another, which revealed a field of blossoms, took two weeks of patient work to color. This labor was done by the wife of the lecturer. From a picture showing round lilies in bloom he drew a lesson in life. "These beautiful flowers," he said, "are sustained by their roots in the mud. They seem very symbolic to me." Gradually the audience was taken up the slopes of Mt. Wilson to the observatory, which he described as "the ticket office of the universe." Views from this point showed great seas of clouds floating between the summit of the mountain and the earth, concealing the latter from view. The sunset playing in the ocean was shown, and finally the lights of Los Angeles far below appeared, as night came on. Now, the lecturer told his hearers, they would start upon a journey more wonderful than any taken by Aladdin. But before leaving the earth, he exhorted his listeners. "For art and history, Europe," he declared. "But for scenery, see America. Now that the terrestrial prologue is over, we shall behold the celestial drama. Let us turn to the telescope. Some people are disappointed when they first look through a telescope. But, as Shakespeare says, 'The fault, dear Brutus, is not with our stars, but with ourselves.' Here is the great instrument, which, in spite of its massiveness, may be turned by a child's finger. The hearings are immersed in gallons of quicksilver. In a space which would show to the naked eye only seven stars, the lens of this telescope unveils no less than eighty thousand. Not only can we see there the stars, but by use of spectrum analysis we can tell beyond a shadow of a doubt what they are composed of. By flashing their light through a prism we break it up into its component colors. And burning elements can have their line upon the chart of light, which ranges from red on the one end, through all the hues of the rainbow, to purple on the other. We carry this light as a laboratory one hundred feet beneath the ground, where no other light can interfere."

"No defined color as nothing more than millions of vibrations affecting our optic cones and rods, and penetrating to our brains. There are colors of such rapid vibration that we cannot absorb them. Consequently there are colors which we can never see, as there are sounds we can never hear. Ultra red and ultra violet have vibrations which we cannot perceive. "Yet," said the lecturer, "some of us think that we know it all." From the spectroscopic, he said, we can tell that salt, composed of the elements sodium and chlorine, is burning in the sun. "We have solved the chemistry of the stars," he declared.

"He explained the mechanism of eclipses, how the shadow of the moon sometimes obscures the sun, and we are then permitted to see the wonderful corona of the latter body without seeing the body itself. And, sometimes the earth intervenes between the sun and the moon, producing lunar eclipses. Pictures of moon landscapes, or rather, as he said, moonscapes, were now shown on the screen. By the art of telescope and camera, the surface of the body was brought within 24 miles. "That is a miracle," he exclaimed, as he pointed out the craters, the mountain ranges, the terraces. "Don't say," he admonished, "that the

by Olive Roberts Barton

"WHAT'S ALL THE FUN ABOUT?" CROAKED THE FROG

"Prick your finger," commanded the goat, who was guarding the Room of Diamonds in the secret passage under the world. "It's the only way I can discover whether or not you twins are mortal or immortal. Prick the frog, too—the one that hopped in when you came. If you have warm red blood you are mortal and cannot stay here."

Nancy hesitated and looked at Nick. What if the goat should put them out now, when they were so near to the end of their journey? It couldn't be far to the South Pole.

Then she unrolled the map that Santa had given them at the beginning of their travels. She gave a little cry of joy. It was just as she hoped. The Room of Diamonds was directly under the Equator, the place at which the star had told them, all magic spells ceased under the sun's rays. Also it was the place at which no person or object could cast a shadow at noon-day. It was noon now.

If they could only leave their precious charms and shoes and everything under ground in the cave for a few minutes away from the sun, Nancy had a wonderful plan.

"Oh!" she cried happily and whispered something to Nick.

"What's all the fun about?" croaked the frog. "I don't see anything funny about getting pricked with a pin. I was worried, no doubt, about his blood. He knew that it was neither red nor warm and he was afraid of being discovered. The conclusion was right. The frog was the wicked Hobadil Jinn himself."

"I was just thinking," said Nick. "Nancy, of an easier way than this. Mortals cast a shadow. Let us all go out into the sunlight. We can leave our charms here."

Out into the sunlight crawled Nancy and Nick through a small door in the roof of the Cave of Diamonds which the goat showed them, leaving the Box of charms and their Map behind.

"Aren't you coming, too?" asked Nancy, turning to the big green bull-frog which had been following them. "Yes, I suppose so," said the frog reluctantly. (He was really the Hobadil Jinn.) He was thinking how he could get back his wishing ring which Nick had slipped off his own finger and laid beside the rest of the charms in the cave.

"Come along, then," said Nancy, waiting for him. The goat, you know, who was guardian of the diamonds, wished to find out whether or not they were mortal and they were all going out into the sunlight to see who would or would not cast a shadow. Only mortals do, it is well known.

Nancy got through first and looked at the sky anxiously. Then she looked at the ground at her feet and gave a little cry of joy. The Map was entirely right. It was noonday and they were exactly on the equator. She had no shadow at all. Neither had Nick who took his place quickly beside her.

The goat then appeared. "Well, well," said he, looking at the ground in surprise. "You are enchanted, aren't you? I might have known it without putting you to so much trouble. No shadow at all, either of you! Come right into my cave again and continue your journey in peace and safety. I'll give you letters to all my enchanted friends."

"But where's the frog?" cried Nancy. She knew that if they could get the fellow out into the sunlight, his spell would be broken at once. "Yes," exclaimed the goat. "Where is he?"

ago of miracles is past." He added, "The moon is a burned out body, and the earth will some day be like it. Pessimism? No; for how could there be birth without death? We of the earth see as through a glass darkly. Pictures of Mars were then displayed. "The newspapers," he said, "tell us that Mars is inhabited; so it must be so. But I have been able to find no evidences of inhabitants. Land, water, clouds, polar caps—yes. But animals? He invited his audience to find canals on the pictures. "There is," he declared, "grave doubt whether any planet in the solar system, except the earth, sustains any life upon it. Rewards have been offered for communication with Mars. But such things belong in the novels of Jules Verne, in the realms of fiction. This is the last word of science. But man is a social animal, and since he likes company, he believes that there is life on Mars. To many people, there is only one question in all astronomy, is Mars inhabited? Mars comes at times within thirty-six millions of miles of us. So we feel a friendly spirit towards it."

Halley's comet was then discussed, and the lecturer told how there are records of 300 persons taking their lives when that body approached in 1910. He stated that this fear of the world ending was needless, as we only passed through the tail's tip. But had we gone through the tail nearer the head, we should have been subjected to deadly gases. He proposed the theory that many of our mysterious epidemics are caused by the earth encountering foreign matter on its voyage through space. Many scientists have found this view extremely probable, he said.

"The religion of astronomy," he concluded, "is that there is a controlling power in the universe before which we are working in the shadow of that power. How vast it is! We have stars which are twenty-seven million times the size of our sun. The universe is the garment of the great reality, which lies behind. Whenever you view the stars, place yourselves in contact with the infinite, like little children."

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to cure it, and get back the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, breaks the mucus crabs, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

COMMENT ON CHARTER

Board of Public Service and Auditing Section Strongly Commended

Now that the charter commission has modified the charter draft so as to overcome the objection of those who said the mayor would have too much power, it is expected that the main cause of opposition has been overcome.

A prominent citizen, not a member of the charter commission, speaking of two original features of the charter said: "I regard the provision for a board of public service under expert direction a very important and essential feature. Everybody connected with city hall work knows that in the past when the appropriations were made for streets, the decision as to how the money should be expended, rested with the commissioner or, under the former charter, the superintendent of streets. It is well remembered that when the city council in the old days voted to pave a certain street, the superintendent got the appropriation and quite often spent it for purposes other than those specified by the city council. To prevent any such misuse of the city's money and to have street and sewer work done in accordance with a definite system, this provision for a public service board has been inserted in the new charter. I consider it one of the most important in the whole document. It is just what is needed, its aim being to have the money appropriated for streets and highways spent for the purpose and in the manner that will best serve the public needs, not to benefit private interests, not haphazard, but in accordance with a well planned system of street development.

"The other feature which I deem original and necessary is the auditing board. At present the bills are audited or approved by those who control them, each commissioner showing difference for the bills of his colleagues and expecting similar treatment in return. The auditing commission would subject every item of expenditure to strict scrutiny. In this respect it would be a safeguard against extravagance and corruption.

"I hope both these features will be left unchanged as part of the charter to be submitted to the people."
